Preface

This, the seventh edition of the Index to Federal Programs and Services, includes information on 131 federal departments, agencies, and Crown corporations. Some organizations, such as the Privy Council Office, are not included here, since their activities affect the general public only through other departments. Some other organizations that are included do not necessarily provide a direct service to the public, but are involved in activities that impinge on the public in some way.

Part I contains descriptions of programs and services provided by the federal government. Part II consists of addresses and phone numbers (where available) of federal, regional, district, and branch offices serving the public throughout Canada.

The section on page 12 describes the various elements of this book and provides a detailed explanation of how to use it most effectively.

As in previous years, the Index could not have been produced without the co-operation and unflagging assistance of the department, agency, and corporation co-ordinators who provided the original material and who worked so diligently to ensure accuracy of content and to provide the editors with new information right up to the last minute. We would like to express our appreciation and thanks for their continued support.

Final update was 15 November 1985.

How to use the Index

The Index is a compendium of information on federal government services. Part I gives descriptions of programs and services provided by federal departments, agencies, Crown corporations, and Canada's judiciary. Part II groups together by province and city the office addresses for these organizations. Each section of the Index is complete in itself, but also linked to the information in other parts of the book.

Part I

In Part I, each organization's section includes a head office address, a list of the cities where that organization has regional offices, a general inquiry number, the title of the minister or agent through whom the organization reports to Parliament, a brief summary of the organization's responsibilities, and descriptions of the individual programs or services administered by the organization. Page 13 opposite gives an example from Part I.

There are several avenues of access to Part I.

The Organization Index, page 8, lists alphabetically and gives the page number for the institutions found in this book. For example:

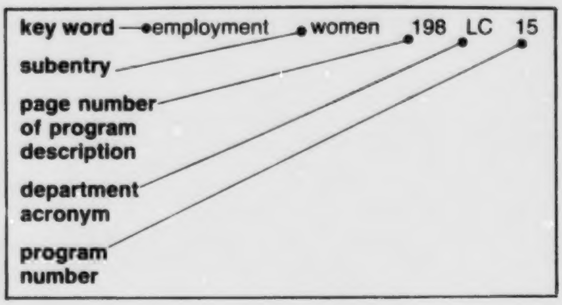
114	Canada Post Corporation
115	Canadair Limited
116	Canadian Advisory Council on the Status of Women

Page 10 gives the organization identifiers, in alphabetical order, for these institutions.

The Index also provides access to federal telephone information numbers. On page 15 is a list of telephone referral services in Canada. The Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16, lists all toll-free services available throughout the country for specific programs, such as UFFI, or for general information on departments, as for Elections Canada.

This section is followed by a list of information telephone numbers for the hearing-impaired.

The subject index, page 37, provides a direct route to a specific program description by topic. The key word gives the page number of the program description, the institution identifier, and the program number, as illustrated below.



Part II

Part II of the Index contains a listing of all federal government offices in Canada. The list is divided into the 12 provincial and territorial sections of the country, arranged alphabetically from Alberta to Yukon Territory. It is further broken down by city, with the office addresses for each city listed by department, also arranged alphabetically. Most office listings include a branch or division name, street address, postal address, postal code, and telephone number.

Heading Part II is the city index, an alphabetical list of the organizations that have regional, district, or local offices. Under each organization name is a list of the cities where that institution has offices. To find the nearest Transport Canada Coast Guard office, for example, check the list under that department's name and branch for the town nearest you. Then turn to the town in the relevant provincial section for the full address.

Following the guidelines laid down by the Canadian Permanent Committee on Geographical Names, the alphabetical arrangement of town and city names is letter by letter: for example, Biggar comes before Big River; Lac-Mégantic before La Malbaie. Towns beginning with Saint, St, Sainte, Ste are all interfiled alphabetically by letter, with the contractions being treated as if they were spelled out; for example, St Andrews precedes Saint John and St Stephen; Sainte-Thérèse precedes Saint-Eustache.

Part II of the Index also includes a list, by province and town, of the authorized bookstore agents of government of Canada publications.

Toll-free Telephone Service

The toll-free numbers below, listed by department, apply to those programs for which information is frequently requested by the public. Please note that not all departments have toll-free numbers, and that some departments listed below may not have a toll-free number that applies in your area.

For Zenith numbers, it is necessary to dial the operator first. In the case of collect calls, dial the operator and request a collect call for the desired number. All other numbers may be dialled direct.

Judiciary

Canadian Judicial Council (CJC)

130 Albert Street
Room 717
Ottawa, Ontario
K1A 0W8

Information: Ottawa/Hull (613) 992-1944.

The Council aims to promote efficiency, uniformity, and improved judicial service in superior and county courts.

CJC 1
Seminars: the Council organizes seminars for the continuing education of judges.

CJC 2
Federal judges/complaints: the Council conducts inquiries into complaints against federally appointed judges.

Court Martial Appeal Court of Canada (CMAC)

Supreme Court of Canada Building
Kent and Wellington Streets
Ottawa, Ontario
K1A 0H9

Information: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-6719.

The Court Martial Appeal Court of Canada is a superior court of record constituted by Parliament under Section 101 of the Constitution Act, 1867, for the better administration of the laws of Canada. Its members are judges of the various superior courts of criminal jurisdiction throughout Canada, as defined by the Criminal Code and the Federal Court Act. One is designated the Chief Justice. Each judge is separately appointed to the Court by order in council and holds a patent issued under the Great Seal of Canada.

CMAC 1
The jurisdiction of the Court Martial Appeal Court is defined by Part IX of the National Defence Act. The Court has the same jurisdiction in appeals of convictions by courts martial as do provincial and territorial courts of appeal in the case of criminal convictions, except that authority to deal with an appeal in respect of severity of sentence belongs to the Minister of National Defence. There is no right to appeal an acquittal by a court martial. An appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada is allowed, by leave of that court or where there has been a dissenting judgement, on any question of law. The Court's Rules of Practice and Procedure, while conforming as closely as possible to those of the provincial and territorial courts of appeal in criminal appeals, are of necessity different in a number of important particulars. Under the Rules, the Chief Justice may authorize appointment of counsel for an appellant at public expense. Any member in good standing of a law society in Canada is entitled to appear before the Court, as are Officers of the Judge Advocate General's Branch of the Department of National Defence. The Court sits as a panel of three judges and may sit outside as well as within Canada, in any place with suitable court facilities, and as near as possible to locations convenient to appellants and their counsel. The officers, clerks, and employees of the Federal Court of Canada also perform the duties of their respective offices for the Court Martial Appeal Court of Canada.

Federal Court of Canada (FCTC)

Principal Office
Supreme Court of Canada Building
Kent and Wellington Streets
Ottawa, Ontario
K1A 0H9

Local Offices: Whitehorse, Yellowknife, Vancouver, Edmonton, Calgary, Regina, Saskatoon, Winnipeg, Toronto, Montréal, Québec, Fredericton, Saint John, Halifax, Charlottetown, St John's.

Information: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-8012.

The Federal Court of Canada, as constituted by the Federal Court Act, is a court of law, equity, and admiralty, and a superior court of record having civil and criminal jurisdiction. It consists of the Federal Court of Appeal, with the Chief Justice and nine judges, and the Federal Court – Trial Division, with the Associate Chief Justice and 13 judges, two of whom have elected to take supernumerary status. The Federal Court of Canada may sit anywhere in the country at times arranged as nearly as possible to suit the convenience of the litigants. It does not hold trials or hearings on a circuit basis. In Ottawa, sittings of the Federal Court are held in the Supreme Court of Canada Building. The judges' offices are in the same building.

FCTC 1
The Federal Court of Appeal has jurisdiction to hear appeals from the Trial Division; to review decisions of federal boards; to determine questions of law, jurisdiction, or practice and procedure referred by federal boards, commissions, and tribunals; and to hear appeals under various federal acts other than the Income Tax Act, the Estate Tax Act, and the Canadian Citizenship Act. Appeals from decisions of the Court may be taken to the Supreme Court of Canada, once leave is granted by the Federal Court of Appeal or the Supreme Court.

FCTC 2
The Federal Court – Trial Division has jurisdiction in cases in which relief is claimed against the Crown, and in cases in which relief is claimed by the Crown or the Attorney General of Canada. The Trial Division also has jurisdiction to hear proceedings for prohibition, mandamus, certiorari, injunction, or declaratory relief against federal boards, commissions, and other tribunals; and for interprovincial and federal-provincial disputes. It also conducts hearings on industrial property proceedings; admiralty proceedings; income tax and estate tax appeals; citizenship appeals; and claims for relief, if there is no other Canadian court that has such jurisdiction.

FCTC 3
Registry: the Federal Court of Canada has one Registry for the entire country, which is responsible for the administration of legal proceedings within the Court. It is composed of the principal office in Ottawa and 16 local offices. Eight of these are staffed by employees of the Federal Court of Canada. The remaining eight are administered by provincial and territorial court employees. In Ottawa the Registry is located in the Federal Court Annex Building.

Additional functions and responsibilities (FCTC 4 – FCTC 6)

Local Offices: Vancouver, Edmonton, Calgary, Winnipeg, Toronto, Montréal, Québec, Halifax.

Information: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-6020; local offices see Part II under cities listed above.

FCTC 4
Animal disease and protection/appeals: owners of animals that have been destroyed under the provisions of the Animal Disease and Protection Act may appeal compensation decisions to the Assessor, who is appointed under Part II of the Pesticide Residue Compensation Act. Appeals must be submitted within three months from the date the owner receives notification of the compensation decision. The Assessor may, for special reasons, allow a longer period.

FCTC 5
Pesticide residue compensation/appeals: farmers may appeal to the Assessor when no compensation has been awarded or when the compensation awarded is less than the maximum prescribed, on the grounds that the amount or failure to award compensation is unreasonable. Appeals must be submitted within three months from the date the farmer receives notification of the compensation decision. The Assessor may, for special reasons, allow a longer period.

FCTC 6
Plant quarantine/appeals: a person may appeal to the Assessor concerning any plant or other matter destroyed or restricted from sale, or concerning any restriction of the use of property or premises, when no compensation is awarded or when the compensation awarded is less than the maximum prescribed, on the grounds that the amount or failure to award compensation is unreasonable. Appeals must be submitted within three months from the date the person receives notification of the compensation decision. The Assessor may, for special reasons, allow a longer period.

Supreme Court of Canada (SUPC)

Supreme Court of Canada Building
Wellington Street
Ottawa, Ontario
K1A 0J1

Information: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-4330.

SUPC 1
The Supreme Court of Canada is the highest court of the land. It is a general court of appeal for both criminal and civil cases. Its jurisdiction embraces the civil law of the province of Québec as well as the common law of the other nine common-law provinces and the territories. The Court reviews cases from the 10 provincial Courts of Appeal and from the Appeal Division of the Federal Court of Canada. In most cases it will hear appeals only if permission to appeal is first granted. The Court can also hear cases referred by the Governor in Council on constitutional questions. The Supreme Court sits only in Ottawa and holds three sessions during the year. Hearings are open to the public.

Tax Court of Canada (TCC)

200 Kent Street
Ottawa, Ontario
K1A 0M1

Information: Ottawa/Hull (613) 992-0901.

TCC 1
The Tax Court of Canada has jurisdiction to hear and determine appeals to the Court on matters arising under the Income Tax Act, the Canada Pension Plan, the Petroleum and Gas Revenue Tax Act, and Part IV of the Unemployment Insurance Act, 1971. Hearings are held in major centres throughout the country with respect to income tax appeals, but unemployment insurance appeals are heard in smaller communities as well. All parties to an appeal may appear in person or may be represented by counsel or an agent. The decisions of the Tax Court of Canada may be appealed to the Federal Court of Canada.

Departments, Agencies, Crown Corporations

Agriculture Canada (AGC)

Head Office

The Department is responsible for federal policies, programs, and regulations relating to agriculture and food, as well as for the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration. It is involved in such activities as grading and inspection, seed certification, the regulation of pesticides and fertilizers, scientific research, international agricultural liaison, and the dissemination of information. Diagnostic and control programs for animal diseases, market development programs, and market forecasts and reports also come under the Department's jurisdiction.
Minister responsible:
Minister of Agriculture

Agricultural research (AGC 1 – AGC 5)

AGC 1
Research grants: university grants are available to staff members of Canadian universities for specific agricultural research. Research Program Service. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-9071 or any regional office see Part II.

AGC 2
Internal research programs: the Research Branch programs are designed to determine optimum conditions of soil and climate for specific crop varieties and new breeds of animals; to reduce crop loss caused by diseases, weeds, and insects; to improve crop management techniques and animal husbandry through biological and engineering studies; to develop new and improved methods for the preparation and preservation of food; and to ensure the safety and nutritive value of food. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-7084 or any regional or district office see Part II.

AGC 3
Animal pathology/disease research and testing: the Animal Pathology Division conducts research on diseases of food animals, provides laboratory, diagnostic, and consultative services to the animal health and meat hygiene programs of the Department, and acts as consultant on the registration, licensing, and use of biological agents and other veterinary and pest control products sold in Canada. It provides diagnostic services to livestock owners and veterinarians at its nine laboratories across Canada. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-5433 or any regional office see Part II.

AGC 4
Agricultural research/inventory: the Department maintains inventories of agricultural and food-related research and development in Canadian universities, industry, and provincial governments. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-9071 or any regional office see Part II.

AGC 5
Classification/research: the Biosystematics Research Institute conducts research on the classification of insects, mites, nematodes, vascular plants, and fungi; the results of this research are available to members of the public, governments, and universities. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 996-1665.

Human and animal protection (AGC 6 – AGC 11)

AGC 6
Consumer protection: through the Food Production and Inspection Branch, the Department is responsible for grading, inspecting, licensing, regulating agricultural production inputs, import and export inspection services and certification, quarantine controls, and eradication procedures. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-5433 or any regional or district office see Part II.

AGC 7
Meat inspection: the Meat Hygiene Division is responsible for the inspection of meats for export and interprovincial movement, and for the inspection of imported meat products. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-5433 or any regional office see Part II.

AGC 8
Agricultural chemicals/technical information: technical pesticide information is available from the Pesticide Unit. For information on appeals concerning pesticide residue compensation see FCTC 5 under Federal Court of Canada. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-9073.

AGC 9
Animal disease and protection: the Health of Animals Directorate is responsible for the control and eradication of livestock diseases within Canada, and it aims at preventing the introduction of animal diseases into the country by regulating importation, by inspecting and testing imported animals, and by operating a quarantine program. It carries out eradication and control programs, and requires inspection and certification for the export of livestock and the treatment of livestock in transit. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-5433 or any regional office see Part II.

AGC 10
Pari-mutuel supervision: the Racetrack Division protects the wagering public by supervising racetracks, checking betting practices of tracks, investigating infractions, and inspecting pari-mutuel facilities. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 998-4922.

AGC 11
Racehorses/drugs/research: the Racetrack Division is responsible for the provision and operation of race surveillance services, including photo finishes, and blood and urine analyses; for research relating to the use of drugs on horses; and for race surveillance techniques. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 998-4922.

Farm income support (AGC 12 – AGC 20)

AGC 12
Western grain stabilization: the Western Grain Stabilization Program is based on the joint participation of grain producers and the federal government. Its operation is aimed at protecting farmers in the area of Western Canada designated by the Canadian Wheat Board, against severe fluctuations in income from the sale of eligible grains. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 993-6671.

AGC 13
The Agricultural Stabilization Board supports prices by buying products outright, by making deficiency payments, or by making direct payments to producers at a fixed rate. It assures price support for nine key commodities: cattle, hogs, sheep, industrial milk and cream, corn, soybeans, and oats and barley grown outside the area administered by the Canadian Wheat Board. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 994-1610 or any regional office see Part II.

AGC 14
Crop insurance: the Crop Insurance Division administers the Crop Insurance Act, under which all-risk crop insurance is made available to Canadian farmers. Under this federal-provincial program, financial contributions are made towards farmers' premium costs and, in Québec and Newfoundland, their administration costs.

AGC 15
Advance payments for crops: the Advance Payments for Crops Act provides producers with an incentive to store products by supplying advance payments. The Minister of Agriculture guarantees these advances through eligible producer organizations, which must administer this program on behalf of their members. The Act applies for all storable crops grown in Canada, except grains grown within the area administered by the Canadian Wheat Board. Marketing Services Division. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-5880 or any regional office see Part II.

AGC 16
New Crop Development Fund: this fund aims to encourage the growth and efficiency of a diversified crops sector in Canadian agriculture. It makes financial contributions to projects that demonstrate the commercial potential of new crops, varieties, technologies, or production practices in a region. To qualify, projects should be large enough to obtain economic and production information useful for commercial use. Eligible institutions include commercial enterprises, industrial and producer groups, provincial and territorial agencies, universities, and other non-profit organizations. Notices of intent to apply for financial assistance should be sent in before 31 October to ensure consideration for funding in the next fiscal year (1 April to 31 March). Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 994-0086 or nearest regional office see Part II.

AGC 17
Farm Improvement Loans: this program guarantees loans made by banks and other designated lenders to farmers for the improvement and development of farms and farmhouses. Loans are available for such purposes as well as for major repairs to implements and equipment, construction, repairs of farm buildings, purchase of livestock or additional land, land clearing, and irrigation systems. A borrower may have several guaranteed loans outstanding at one time as long as the total does not exceed $100 000. Farm Improvement Loan Administration. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-9554.

AGC 18
Loan guarantees: under the Agricultural Products Co-operative Marketing Act the federal government guarantees bank loans to primary producers for initial payments and operating costs through agreements between the Minister of Agriculture and producer co-operatives with a price pooling system. Producers of all agricultural commodities, including livestock, poultry, milk products, crops (except grains in the area administered by the Canadian Wheat Board) are eligible. Marketing Services Division. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-5880 or any regional office see Part II.

AGC 19
Financial assistance/fruit and vegetable producers: the Fruit and Vegetable Storage Construction Program provides financial assistance to producer groups for the construction or renovation of specialized fruit and vegetable storage facilities. By accelerating storage construction, the program aims to lengthen the marketing season for domestically produced fruit and vegetables. Marketing Services Division. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-5880 or any regional office see Part II.

AGC 20
Financial aid to apple growers: compensation is available to apple growers in Ontario, the Maritimes, and Québec for damage caused to apple trees by the severe frost of 1980-1981. The program has been extended to September 1986 and includes financial aid to re-establish damaged orchards. Inquiries: any regional office in Ontario, Québec, or the Martimes see Part II.

Market development (AGC 21 – AGC 27)

AGC 21
Genetic Improvement Programs: Records of Performance Programs for dairy, beef, sheep, and swine improve production and product quality through identification of genetically superior breeding stock. The Sire Loan Program provides high-quality tested sires to assist in the development of artificial insemination technology in swine and sheep. Livestock registration provides authentication for the purebred registration system in Canada, which strengthens both foreign and domestic sales capabilities. Inquiries: Otttawa/Hull (819) 994-0086.

AGC 22
Showcase herds: the Department maintains showcase herds of dairy and beef cattle, sheep, and swine available in Canada. These herds provide foreign and domestic visitors with a display of modern production practices and have become the focal point of potential buyers of Canadian livestock. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 994-0086

AGC 23
Agricultural products/market development: the Marketing and Economics Branch is responsible for market expansion and increased marketing effectiveness for Canadian agricultural products. It arranges co-operative marketing, provides market information reports and assistance in product promotion, and analyses trends of developments in agriculture and related sectors of the economy. The Branch publishes the Retail Food Price Report, which provides the weekly average cost of food for a family of four in Canada's urban centres. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-5880 or any regional office see Part II.

AGC 24
Canadian Agricultural Market Development Initiative: this program contributes to projects that aim to increase the use of Canadian agri-food products in domestic markets, as well as to projects that attempt to develop improved marketing systems in the agri-food sector. Organizations eligible for project funding include corporations, co-operatives, partnerships, universities, industry associations, and non-profit organizations. Marketing Services Division, Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-5880 or any regional office see Part II.

AGC 25
Marketing boards: under the Agricultural Products Marketing Act, provincial commodity marketing boards and agencies established under provincial statutes may assume authority over the marketing of agricultural commodities within their province and over interprovincial and export trade and the collection of levies. Marketing Services Division. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-5880 or any regional office see Part II.

AGC 26
Agricultural Products Board: the Board is empowered to buy, sell, or import agricultural products, and to administer food contracts and other commodity operations. It may purchase and hold reserve stocks of agricultural products for later sale, emergency relief purposes in Canada, and food assistance programs abroad. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 994-1610.

AGC 27
Agriculture and Food Market Situation and Outlook Program: the Department provides information on current and prospective markets for agricultural products; an Agricultural Outlook Conference is held each year. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-5880.

Agricultural development (AGC 28 – AGC 31)

AGC 28
Agricultural events/funding: financial assistance is available to fairs and exhibits, producer associations, and non-profit organizations in the agricultural sector to assist in funding local, national, and international events that improve Canadian agricultural production. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 994-0086.

AGC 29
Regional development: the Regional Development Branch is responsible for promoting regional agricultural development through national and regional programs. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-9554 or any regional office see Part II.

AGC 30
The International Affairs Directorate represents the Department's interests and responsibilities in international affairs. It is responsible for agricultural aid programs and technical assistance missions, and provides international agricultural intelligence for the Department. In addition, it co-ordinates the Department's efforts in World Food Day activities. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 993-6671 or any regional office see Part II.

AGC 31
Food Advisory Division: to promote Canadian food products, this division provides information on the selection of food for good health, safe and quality-preserving food practices, and best values for the food dollar. It carries out research in methods of food preparation and devises recipes incorporating good food practices. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull, general information (613) 995-5880; recipes (613) 995-8963.

Established by Parliament in 1957, the Canada Council aims to promote and foster the arts in Canada. To achieve this aim, the Council provides a wide range of grants and services to professional artists and arts organizations in dance, music, theatre, media arts, visual arts, and writing and publishing.

The Canada Council reports to Parliament through the Minister of Communications.

CC 1
Aid to professional artists and arts organizations: the Canada Council offers financial assistance to individual artists through its Arts Awards Service. It also provides grants to arts organizations, including dance and theatre companies, orchestras and opera companies, art galleries and artist-run centres, book and periodical publishers, film and video organizations, and national, professional service organizations in the various disciplines. Grants to organizations are administered through six sections of the Council – Dance, Media Arts, Music, Theatre, Visual Arts, Writing and Publication. To be eligible, artists must be Canadian citizens or have resided in Canada as landed immigrants for five years.

CC 2
Art Bank: the Art Bank was created in 1972 to complement the programs of the Visual Arts Section of the Council. Its objectives are to provide recognition and direct assistance to professional Canadian artists through the purchase of their work; to present contemporary Canadian art to the public in everyday environments through a rental program; and to stimulate the private and corporate collecting of art.

CC 3
Touring Office: through the Touring Office, the Council awards grants for tours by Canadian performing artists and companies in Canada and offers professional services to artists, tour managers, and organizers. Canadian citizens and persons who have resided in Canada for five years as landed immigrants are eligible.

CC 4
Explorations Program: this program of grants encourages innovative projects that introduce new approaches to creative expression, extend the limits of existing art forms, cross disciplines, or fulfill specific needs in the development of the arts. Applicants must be Canadian citizens or persons who have resided in Canada as landed immigrants for five years.

CC 5
Prizes and awards: the Canada Council offers a number of prizes and awards to distinguished members of Canada's artistic and scholarly communities: the Molson Prizes, the McLuhan Teleglobe Canada Award, the Governor General's Literary Awards, the Canada Council Children's Literature Prizes, the Canada Council Translation Prizes, the Virginia P Moore Award, the Sylvia Gelber Foundation Awards, the Jules Léger Prize for New Chamber Music, the Healey Willan Prize, the Victor Martyn Lynch-Staunton Awards, the Jacqueline Lemieux Prize, the JBC Watkins Award, and the Peter Dwyer Scholarships.

CC 6
Killam Program: the Canada Council administers the Izaak Walton Killam Memorial Prizes, which are awarded to Canadian researchers in science, engineering, and medicine. The Council also administers the Killam Research Fellowships, which are awarded through competitions to researchers in engineering, the humanities, medicine, natural sciences, social sciences, and to researchers conducting studies linking any of the disciplines within these fields. The prizes and fellowships are financed through a gift and a bequest made by Mrs Dorothy J Killam.

The CBC is a publicly owned corporation established by an act of the Canadian Parliament to provide the national broadcasting service in Canada.

The CBC reports to Parliament through the Minister of Communications.

CBC 1
National broadcasting service: the CBC operates several national services which maintain high levels of Canadian content – a French television network, an English television network, English and French AM radio and FM stereo networks. Many of the programs on both the English and French television networks are available with closed captions for the hearing impaired. The percentage of the Canadian public able to receive CBC broadcasts, in their respective languages, as of 1 April 1985, is approximately as follows for each service: English television, 99; French television 99; English AM radio, 99; French AM radio, 99; English FM stereo, 72; French FM stereo, 76.

CBC 2
The Parliamentary Television Network makes the proceedings of the House of Commons available to Canadians via cable.

CBC 3
Radio Canada International, a multilingual international broadcasting service, broadcasts in 12 languages around the world. In addition to its shortwave broadcasts, RCI makes available recorded programs free of charge to broadcasters throughout the world. Canadian Armed Forces radio and television stations in Germany relay certain CBC domestic newscasts in French and English, and RCI supplies them with taped programs from the CBC's French and English networks.

CBC 4
The Northern Radio Service provides locally produced programs in English and native languages, as well as national network programs, to Yukon and the Northwest Territories.

CBC 5
Northern Service Television, with the establishment in 1978 of a small production centre in Yellowknife, has the capacity for some northern production and program procurement. It supplements network programs with programs from other regions of Canada and northern-related programs purchased outside the Corporation, some of which have Inuktitut dubbed in.

CBC 6
The Northern Québec Service provides most of CBC's French and English radio and television programming, as well as some programming in Inuktitut, Cree, and other native languages, to residents of Québec's North.

CBC 7
Transmission methods: these include leased channels on the Canadian space satellite Anik, plus more than 170 000 kilometres of microwave and landline connections.

CBC 8
Service for the hearing impaired: this service provides the hearing impaired with information about the CBC and its television programming by means of a Telecommunications Device for the Deaf. A hearing-impaired person who has a TDD in his or her home can call the CBC Head Office Information Centre (Ottawa) collect at (613) 733-8868, and receive the same kind of telephone service, in English or in French, that is provided to all other callers.

Projects are medium- to long-term, commonly involving Canadian industry. It promotes technology transfer through an internal program for the contracting out of space-related research and development and through National Research Council and Department of Supply and Services industry support programs. It also provides support to other departments on space-related projects. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 998-2011.

Industrial assistance (DOC 36 – DOC 39)

DOC 36
Industry development/communications activities: the Department assists in the development and implementation in Canadian industries of advanced space, telecommunications, and informatics technologies. This involves the identification and exploitation of marketing opportunities in Canada and abroad, the generation of information on the activities of supplier and user markets, and the development of federal government policies, strategies, plans, and programs related to these technologies. Industry and Economic Development Branch. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 990-4286.

DOC 37
David Florida Laboratory: the laboratory provides extensive facilities for the assembly, integration, and environmental and ambient testing of spacecraft and spacecraft complements. The facilities include thermal vacuum chambers of varying sizes, electro-dynamic shakers for vibration testing, and two anechoic chambers. The laboratory, a division of the Industry and Economic Development Branch, is at Shirley Bay, west of Ottawa, and is available for use by government agencies and by industry on a cost-recovery basis. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 996-9444.

DOC 38
Office Communications Systems Program: this program is a federal, industrial initiative administered by the Department of Communications with the support of the Department of Regional Industrial Expansion. It is designed to develop a Canadian, industrial capability for research in the development and manufacturing of integrated electronic office systems, and to develop services and marketing for these systems, both domestically and internationally. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 990-4124.

DOC 39
Telecommunications equipment/export: the Department supports the activities of Canadian exporters of telecommunications equipment and services (this includes providing technical information to complement their marketing plans). International Relations Branch. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 990-4260 or nearest district office see Part II.

Technical assistance/developing countries (DOC 40)

DOC 40
Assistance to developing countries/telecommunications: in conjunction with the Canadian International Development Agency (CIDA) and international organizations (notably the International Telecommunication Union or ITU), the Department contributes to the planning, implementation, and co-ordination of technical assistance for developing countries in the field of telecommunications. The Department carries out studies on specific aspects of telecommunications and development, and assists in evaluating and responding to requests for technical training and assistance. International Relations Branch. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 990-4235 or nearest district office see Part II.

Consumer and Corporate Affairs Canada (CCA)

Head Office
Place du Portage
50 Victoria Street
Hull, Québec
(Mail: Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0C9)

Regional Offices: Vancouver, Winnipeg, Toronto (Willowdale), Montréal, Dartmouth.

District and Area Offices: throughout Canada.

Information: Ottawa/Hull (819) 997-2938; Telecommunications Device for the Deaf, 944-0067; regional offices see Part II under cities listed above; district and area offices see Part II under nearest town; for the Copyright Appeal Board see CCA 17 below, for the UFFI Centre see the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

The Department is concerned with the conduct of the marketplace and aims to increase its efficiency. It strives, through legislation and regulation, to balance the interests of consumers and business, and to maintain confidence in the integrity and viability of private enterprise. The Department also supports the consumer movement.
Minister responsible:
Minister of Consumer and Corporate Affairs

Consumer aid and protection (CCA 1 – CCA 12)

CCA 1
Consumer Funding Program: grants and contributions are available to national, regional, or local groups. Funds are available to help consumers organize to address marketplace issues for self-help, and to represent the interests of consumers before federal government regulatory bodies and agencies. Regional workshops bring together local consumer organizations to help them improve their organizational skills, to identify consumer issues, and to build a network capable of addressing consumer issues. The program is currently under review. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 997-4440, or any regional office see Part II under cities listed above, or nearest district office see Part II.

CCA 2
Consumer protection/misrepresentation and economic loss: through inspections, most food and prepackaged non-food products are examined for regulatory compliance of packaging, labelling, quantity, quality, composition, and advertising declarations. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull, textiles, precious metals, furs, prepackaged non-food products (819) 997-1177; manufactured foods (819) 997-1591; graded agricultural products (819) 997-4646; or any regional office see Part II under cities listed above; or nearest district or area office see Part II.

CCA 3
Consumer protection/approval and inspection of weighing and measuring devices: the Legal Metrology Branch is responsible for ensuring accurate measurement of goods and services sold on a basis of measure in the Canadian marketplace. Before a weighing and measuring device can be used in a trade application in Canada, it must receive approval from the Legal Metrology Branch in Canada, and be verified as to its conformity with relevant legislation and specifications by means of an initial inspection upon installation and subsequent periodic inspections conducted by the Department's field staff. These procedures apply to weighing and measuring devices of all types, such as light- and heavy-duty scales, electricity meters, natural gas meters, and gasoline dispensers. Inquiries: regarding the type approval of weighing and measuring devices – Legal Metrology Branch in Ottawa (613) 990-8613; regarding the initial inspection of all types of weighing and measuring devices – any regional office see Part II under cities listed above, or nearest district office see Part II.

CCA 4
Consumer protection/safety of consumer products: the Product Safety Branch is responsible for enforcing compliance of products with the Hazardous Products Act. The Act covers such consumer products as household chemicals, toys, furniture, and textile products. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 997-1194, or any regional office see Part II under cities listed above, or nearest district or area office see Part II.

CCA 5
Misleading advertising: the Marketing Practices Branch investigates complaints concerning violations of the misleading advertising and deceptive marketing practices provisions of the Combines Investigation Act. Under its Program of Compliance, the Branch provides opinions on the application of the Act to proposed advertisements and promotional contests. The Misleading Advertising Bulletin, published quarterly, contains summaries of prosecutions that resulted in convictions, and policy statements on various issues. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 997-3333 or any area office see Part II. Complaints: Ottawa/Hull (819) 997-4282, or any area office see Part II.

CCA 6
Consumer representation: the Consumer Services Branch promotes the interests of the consumer in the administration and development of government programs and regulations. It encourages business to improve its customer relations policies and practices, and seeks to persuade business and the voluntary sector to direct resources toward assistance of consumers who are especially vulnerable in the marketplace, such as the elderly, the disabled, and youth. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 997-4210 or any regional office see Part II under cities listed above or nearest district office see Part II.

CCA 7
UFFI Centre: the Urea Formaldehyde Foam Insulation Information and Co-ordination Centre was established in 1981 to co-ordinate all federal activities related to UFFI, as well as technical and medical research projects. Until 30 September 1983, homeowners with the insulation could register with the UFFI Centre and become eligible for financial assistance of up to $5000 towards the cost of corrective measures. The UFFI Centre continues to offer the latest technical information on UFFI. It also maintains a contractor registration and training program for firms and individuals involved in corrective work. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 994-0921 or see the Toll-free Telephone Service section page 16; by mail – The UFFI Centre, Hull, Québec K1A 0C9.

CCA 8
Anti-Corrosion Code for Motor Vehicles: the code establishes minimum levels of corrosion protection to be provided on new vehicles in Canada, but application of the code by dealers and manufacturers is voluntary. If consumers have problems with rust that are not solved by returning to the dealer or manufacturer, they may, in some municipalities, go to civil or small claims courts. The Better Business Bureau may take a case to arbitration. In Ontario, the Ontario Motor Vehicle Arbitration Plan is available to consumers. The National Research Council has done tests on road salt as a cause of corrosion, but no testing has been done on the performance of commercial rustproofing agents. Legislation setting standards for product durability falls under provincial jurisdiction. Inquiries: for a copy of the Anti-Corrosion Code – Consumer Services, Consumer and Corporate Affairs, Place du Portage, Phase I, 17th Floor, Hull, Québec K1A 0C9 (613) 997-4320.

CCA 9
CA identification numbers: under the Textile Labelling and Advertising Regulations, dealers in Canada may obtain CA identification numbers to use on their labels in place of their full names and addresses, to meet legislation requirements. The Department maintains an up-to-date record of all registered CA numbers and, upon request, will provide the company name and address corresponding to a given number. The list of CA numbers cannot be reproduced and distributed.

CCA 10
Conflict of interest: the Assistant Deputy Registrar General is responsible for administration of the Conflict of Interest and Post-Employment Code for Public Office Holders, and for application of compliance measures to Ministers of the Crown, their staff, parliamentary secretaries, Governor-in-Council appointees, and ministerial appointees. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-0721.

CCA 11
Public Registry: the Public Registry contains public documents stating methods of compliance and giving the declarations made by public office holders to comply with the measures in the Conflict of Interest and Post-Employment Code for Public Office Holders. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-0721.

CCA 12
Publications are available to the public either by writing to head office or by calling the department in the Ottawa/Hull area at (819) 997-3284.

Commercial services (CCA 13 – CCA 21)

CCA 13
Incorporation of businesses: the Corporations Branch administers several federal acts, including the Canada Corporations Act and the Canada Business Corporations Act. Under the latter are incorporated all federal business corporations, including investment and small loan companies, with the exception of financial intermediaries. The Canada Corporations Act still applies to the establishment and function of all federal non-profit corporations. The Corporations Branch processes submissions made by federal corporations, in accordance with the acts it administers. It also provides public access to corporate statutory filings, and ensures compliance with the applicable legislation in the public interest. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 997-1142, or any regional office see Part II under cities listed above, or nearest district office see Part II.

CCA 14
Bankruptcy: in its administration of the Bankruptcy Act, the Bankruptcy Branch provides assistance in filing consumer bankruptcies, and protects the rights and interests of both creditors and debtors during bankruptcy proceedings. It regulates the bankruptcy process through the licensing and supervision of trustees in bankruptcy and is responsible for the detection of abuses of the bankruptcy process both before and after bankruptcy. The Branch also ensures, where required, that investigations and prosecution take place. It also maintains and disseminates general and statistical information on bankruptcy. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 996-3964, or any regional office see Part II under cities listed above, or nearest district office see Part II.

CCA 15
Competition policy: The Director of Investigation and Research, in administering the Combines Investigation Act, receives complaints and conducts inquiries with respect to combines, mergers, and trade practices affecting competition. Under the Program of Compliance, the Director provides opinions on the application of the Act to proposed plans or policies that businesses submit to him. Inquiries and complaints: Ottawa/Hull (819) 994-0798.

CCA 16
Copyright and industrial design: the Copyright and Industrial Design Branch administers the Copyright Act, which provides for the voluntary registration of copyright for original artistic, dramatic, literary or musical works; the Industrial Design Act, which provides for the registration of industrial designs of original shape or pattern or in the form of ornamentation applied to an article of manufacture; and the Timber Marking Act, which provides for the registration of marks that are used to identify the ownership of timber floated down inland waterways in Québec, Ontario, and New Brunswick. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 997-1725, or any regional office see Part II under cities listed above, or nearest district office see Part II.

CCA 17
Copyright Appeal Board: the Board is responsible for approving the fees, charges, or royalties that performing rights societies propose to collect in an ensuing calendar year for licenses to perform dramatic-musical or musical works in Canada. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 994-4791.

CCA 18
Patents: the Patent Office, in addition to issuing patents, gathers and disseminates technological information found in the world's patent documents. The Canadian Patent Office is offering a new service to technology-based small business: it will do a state-of-the-art search of technological information in Canadian and foreign patents and will provide a sample of what patents are available in the field of interest. The information can be used, among other things, to prevent duplication of research, find solutions to technological problems, and to identify new products for marketing. A patent provides 17-year protection from others making, using, or selling an invention not their own. A patent also helps inventors to sell or license their product. As there is no protection until the patent has been issued, dated notes witnessed in confidence should be kept during the development of an invention. Although it is possible for an individual to apply for a patent, a registered patent agent should be consulted. Patent Office. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 997-1936.

CCA 19
Trade marks: the Trade Marks Office provides for the registration of trade marks, words, slogans, designs, or any combination of these that serves to distinguish the goods and services of one person or firm from those of another. Owners of trade marks have the right to prevent others from using their trade marks for the same goods or services. Although it is not necessary to register a trade mark to acquire ownership of a trade mark, registration does establish broader rights, such as national protection and the right to allow others to use the trade mark. (Franchising requires registration of the trade mark and of the franchisee as a registered user of the trade mark.) The Office also provides and maintains a computerized database of all registered trade marks, their owners with their addresses, the goods and services sold under the trade mark, pending and refused applications, and other commercially valuable information. For information from the computerized database, the public should contact a registered trade mark agent or searchers of records listed in the yellow pages of the telephone book; for general information on the registeration of trade marks – the Trade Mark Office. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 997-1936.

CCA 20
Document registration: the Registration Division of the Office of the Assistant Deputy Registrar General is a central depository for documents issued or registered by the Registrar General of Canada under the Formal Documents Regulations and other statutes. These include documents on appointments by the Governor in Council, land grants from the Crown, and other documents, such as those concerning the Railway Act and the Canada Corporations Act. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 997-1265.

CCA 21
Technical aid: Consumer Services provides technical support and expertise to voluntary organizations as well as technical guidance to business on the benefits to business and to consumers of enhancing customer relations policies and practices. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 997-4320, or any regional office see Part II under cities listed above or nearest district office see Part II.

Policy co-ordination and planning (CCA 22)

CCA 22
The Bureau of Policy Co-ordination is responsible for conducting research and policy analysis activities related to consumer and corporate affairs, including co-ordination of all communications and policy-related activities. The Bureau undertakes reviews of legislation administered by the department. It has overall responsibility for evaluating and periodically auditing all departmental programs, and co-ordinates planning activities at the corporate level. The Bureau comprises five branches: Policy Analysis and Liaison Branch; Strategic Policy Research Branch; Communications Branch; Audit, Evaluation, and Control Branch; and Planning and Management Services Branch. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 997-2938.

Correctional Investigator (Office of the) (CI)

PO Box 2324, Station D
Ottawa, Ontario
K1P 5W5

Information: Ottawa/Hull (613) 996-9771.

Minister responsible:
Solicitor General of Canada

CI 1
The Office of the Correctional Investigator investigates complaints from inmates, as defined in the Penitentiary Act. It also reports on problems of inmates, raised through complaints, that come within the responsibility of the Solicitor General of Canada, except for problems where the person complaining has not, in the opinion of the Correctional Investigator, exhausted all available legal or administrative remedies; and problems concerning any subject matter that ceased to exist or to be the subject of complaint more than one year before the lodging of the complaint with the Commissioner (Correctional Investigator); and problems concerning any subject matter or conditions under the responsibility of the Solicitor General of Canada that touch on the preparation of material for consideration of the National Parole Board. Further, the Commissioner need not investigate if the subject matter of a complaint has previously been investigated or if, in the opinion of the Commissioner, a person complaining has no valid interest in the matter.

Minister responsible:
Solicitor General of Canada

CSC 1
Agriculture/inmate employment: the Correctional Service operates farms and horticultural and food processing programs to supply staple agricultural food products economically for institutional use. These programs train inmates in work habits and skills in preparation for their release into society. Agribusiness Division. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-6791.

CSC 2
Case management: this program provides for the proper classification, assessment, and supervision of each inmate during his or her sentence. Appropriate counselling and program planning, as well as proper analysis of each inmate's needs are also provided through this program. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-2554.

CSC 3
Inmate affairs: the Correctional Service ensures that inmates are treated with justice and equity throughout their sentence by providing them with means of redress and protection of their rights and by monitoring decisions in terms of the duty to act fairly.

CSC 4
Inmate industrial manufacturing program: major products, such as upholstered and modular furniture, mail transfer boxes, mail bags, shoes, and clothing are manufactured by inmates for sale to all levels of government as well as to religious and non-profit organizations. Such work provides inmates with skills that prepare them for re-entry into society. CORCAN Industries. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-6316.

CSC 5
Inmate skill development and education: academic education from the primary to the baccalaureate level is available to penitentiary inmates, as is vocational education in a variety of trades and professions at both the secondary and postsecondary levels, including special programs for the illiterate and programs in life skills. The Correctional Service also offers educational assessment and counselling services. Education and Training Division. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 996-5893, 996-5894, or 996-5895.

CSC 6
Medical and health care/inmates: the CSC provides medical and health care services for inmates. Services include general medical, surgical, dental, psychiatric, and nursing care. Medical Services. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 993-5073.

CSC 7
Resocialization/inmates: the Activity Centre is responsible for the management of services and programs designed to encourage and facilitate the resocialization of offenders. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 992-6000.

The Chief Electoral Officer reports directly to Parliament.

ELC 1
The Chief Electoral Officer is responsible for the supervision of the administrative conduct of federal elections in Canada and for ensuring that all provisions of the Canada Elections Act are complied with and enforced. Major activities include the training of returning officers, the revision of polling division boundaries, the acquisition of election material and supplies, the maintenance of a registry of political parties, and the certification of statutory payments to be made to auditors, political parties, and candidates under the election expenses provisions of the Act. Pursuant to the Electoral Boundaries Readjustment Act and following each decennial census, the Chief Electoral Officer must calculate the number of electoral districts to be assigned to each province according to rules contained in Section 51 of the Constitution Act, and prepare population distribution maps for use by the electoral boundaries commissions that are directly responsible for readjusting federal electoral district boundaries.

Emergency Planning Canada (EPC)

Head Office
Gillin Building, 2nd Floor
141 Laurier Avenue West
Ottawa, Ontario
K1A 0W6

Regional Offices: provincial capitals.

Information: Ottawa/Hull (613) 992-3322; regional offices see Part II under any provincial capital.

Emergency Planning Canada is responsible for the co-ordination of planning for the federal response to peacetime emergencies and for the continuance of government in the event of a nuclear attack. Special arrangements would ensure the operation of a relocated federal emergency government at various sites across Canada.
Minister responsible:
Minister responsible for Emergency Planning (Associate Minister of National Defence)

EPC 1
Emergency planning courses: these courses are offered to mayors and elected officials at various government levels, and to emergency planners in federal, provincial, and municipal governments and in industry. Inquiries: Canadian Emergency Preparedness College, Arnprior, Ontario K7S 3H2; Ottawa/Hull (613) 996-5979; or any regional office see Part II under any provincial capital.

EPC 2
Emergency planning of federal organizations: EPC co-ordinates the emergency planning of federal departments, agencies, and Crown corporations. A regional director in each provincial capital maintains contact with federal departments in the area and with provincial governments.

EPC 3
Research fellowships: EPC conducts research into various aspects of disasters; funds are available for postgraduate research fellowships in emergency planning. Inquiries: the program is administered for EPC by the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada, 151 Slater Street, Ottawa, Ontario K1P 5N1 (613) 563-1236.

EPC 4
Worker's compensation agreements: the federal government assumes 75 per cent of the cost involved in payments to civil defence workers injured during the course of civil defence training or duties. Claims for compensation must be documented and approved by the compensation board of the province concerned.

EPC 5
Disaster financial assistance: EPC administers the arrangements for disaster financial assistance under which the federal government absorbs an increasing proportion of provincial expenditures for disaster relief according to formal agreements with the provinces based on population. The arrangements were established to provide for assistance to the provincial governments when the cost of dealing with the effect of a disaster would place an undue burden on the provincial economy.

EPC 6
Joint Emergency Planning Program: under this program, costs for approved emergency planning projects are shared with the provinces.

Employment (EIC 1 – EIC 50)

Job search, careers, training (EIC 1 – EIC 18)

EIC 1
Job Bank/National: the Commission maintains a computerized list of jobs currently available across the country, including full details on each job, such as salary and required experience. The Job Bank allows workers to explore employment opportunities across the country, and exposes employers' unsatisfied labour requirements more widely than has been the case in the past. Employment Operational Services Branch. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16; or immigration offices overseas.

EIC 2
Employment/job-search techniques: group training is provided to develop attitudes, skills, and the tools required for an independent job search. Creative Job Search Techniques. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

Job search, careers, training (continued)

EIC 3
Job search training: training is offered to adults to help them gain a positive view of themselves in relation to the work world. They are taught decision-making skills for choosing an occupation, and the way to conduct a job search. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 4
Job Finding Club: three-week clubs are run by Canada Employment Centres and other agencies to help chronically unemployed clients find a job quickly. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 5
Canadian Occupational Interest Inventory: the Inventory is an aid to assess an individual's occupational interests by testing. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 6
Employment aptitude tests: tests are conducted to determine employment aptitude, particularly for occupations in industry. General Aptitude Test Battery. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 7
CHOICES Program/computer search of occupations and of education and training programs and schools: individuals may feed information into the computer about their interests, aptitudes, education, salary expectations, and so on, for computer-printout lists of occupations. Further information can then be obtained on programs of study and the schools offering them, and on the characteristics for each occupation. There is also a facility that provides links between the occupations and programs of study. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 8
COMPASS/computer-assisted job search and job keeping skills development: COMPASS is an interactive, computer-based system that provides information and skill practice on job searching and job keeping. It consists of a series of 11 learning packages that can be used on the system without prior introduction. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 9
PLACE: Guided Steps to Employment Readiness: this program is designed to help job seekers prepare to get and keep a job. Through the use of directives, the program systematically guides users through the steps of identifying, analysing, and solving work-related problems. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 10
Publications: EIC publishes several booklets that can help Canadians in choosing a career and finding a job. The Personal Occupation Selector is a booklet that helps users determine an occupational goal consistent with their interests, needs, wants, and educational qualifications. Overcoming Employment Barriers is an employment counselling booklet that helps users identify, analyse, and find solutions for work-related problems. Careers Canada is a series of 34 booklets designed to broaden the readers' knowledge of available careers and vocational options, and to assist them in making career decisions based on their interests, abilities, and aspirations. The Careers Provinces fact sheets give the qualifications required for about 700 occupations in each province. A series of seven booklets produced by the Canadian Classification and Dictionary of Occupations (CCDO) Program contains occupational information on over 7500 occupations in Canada; the series classifies and describes the occupations and identifies qualifications and aptitudes that are required of a worker for satisfactory performance. Another series of booklets, compiled by the Occupational/Trade Analysis (OTA) Program, provides detailed descriptions of the tasks and sub-tasks performed by skilled workers in specific trades and occupations in Canada. The series is used by governments, employers, unions, training institutions, and members of the labour force to develop curricula and prepare examinations facilitating the mobility of workers in Canada, to assess training needs, and to assist in job placement and immigrant selection. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 11
Vocational training: the federal government, in co-operation with the provinces, offers vocational training to adults who are members of the work force, in order to allow them to increase their employment opportunities or their earning capacity. Such training must correspond with the needs of the labour market. It encompasses the academic aspect of apprenticeship training. Trainees can obtain financial assistance during their training. National Institutional Training. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 12
Canada Mobility Program (CMP): financial aid is available to workers (unemployed, underemployed, or about to become unemployed) who can not find suitable jobs locally and must therefore move or travel to communities where their skills are needed. Employment Operational Services Branch. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 13
Outreach Program: this program improves, through the operation of community-based projects, the employability and access to suitable employment of individuals who have difficulty in obtaining or maintaining employment, when the local Canada Employment Centre is unable to provide them with the necessary employment services. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 14
Agricultural job placement: in about 100 agricultural communities across Canada, specialized employment centres, called Canada Farm Labour Pools, work in conjunction with Canada Employment Centres to match farm employment vacancies with suitable farm workers. Inquiries: nearest Canada Farm Labour Pool or Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16. In the absence of a CFLP, full service is provided by the nearest Canada Employment Centre.

EIC 15
Farm workers/employment: EIC provides programs that encompass training, human resource planning, and mobility provisions designed to provide a sufficient number of skilled workers for the Canadian farming sector. Canada Agriculture Manpower Program. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 16
International exchange programs/workers: EIC offers practical, career-related work abroad for young workers, which provides them with exposure to foreign cultures while they expand their skills and knowledge in a particular occupation. Inquiries: Youth Employment Directorate, Place du Portage, 5th Floor, Hull, Québec (mail: Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0J9); or nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 17
Armed forces/employment for retiring personnel: EIC helps personnel retiring from the Canadian Armed Forces to obtain civilian employment. Canadian Forces Second Career Assistance Network. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 18
Social insurance number registration: Canadian citizens, permanent residents, and others who may qualify are entitled to receive a social insurance number. This service includes any amendments to existing social insurance numbers, such as change of name, loss of card, and so on. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

Youth and students (EIC 19 – EIC 27)

EIC 19
Youth Training Option: YTO, a program that began in November 1984, helps Canadian youth between the ages of 17 and 21 bridge the gap between school and work. The program is designed for the two-thirds of young Canadians who have not graduated from a postsecondary institution. It combines theoretical and on-the-job training to provide graduates of the program with relevant skills and a demonstrated competence in the workplace. Training programs last between nine and 12 months and participants receive either an allowance or, if they are eligible, unemployment insurance benefits, whichever is higher. They may also be eligible for supplementary allowances for travel and dependant care. Under the Canadian Jobs Strategy, YTO will become part of the Job Entry program see EIC 46. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 20
Students and graduates/University and Community Colleges Employment Centres on Campus: these centres co-ordinate an on-campus recruitment program and offer employment-related assistance to the student body at over 100 postsecondary institutions across Canada. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 21
Directory of Employers of College and University Graduates in Canada: EIC publishes this directory to help graduating students find employment according to their skills. The directory contains seven sections: an alphabetical index of employers, names of employers listed by geographical location, an index of university disciplines, employers listed by university disciplines in which graduates are required, an index of college disciplines, employers listed by college disciplines in which graduates are required, and employers' profiles arranged alphabetically. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 22
University/college programs: EIC publishes a book with information on the programs of major colleges and universities in Canada. The information is in the form of a series of tables and alphabetical and occupational program listings. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 23
CHALLENGE 86/Summer Student Employment Program: this program provides career and learning-related summer employment for students. The program involves the private, municipal, and non-profit sectors in harmony with provincial student employment programs. The components of this initiative are described in detail in EIC 24 – EIC 27.

EIC 24
Summer Employment/Experience Development (SEED): EIC provides career- and study-related, practical work experience to students during the summer months through the provision of a wage subsidy to private businesses, non-profit organizations, Indian Bands, individuals involved in non-profit activities, and municipalities. The program replaces the former Summer Canada Works and the Summer Career-Access Community-Based programs. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre or Employment Development Branch office see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 25
Work Orientation Workshops (WOW): this is a new, experimental program that provides disadvantaged students and potential drop-outs with a developmental learning experience through the subsidization of wages for the trainer or instructor and for participants, and the provision of incentive awards for participants. Business, business associations, community organizations, and ad hoc groups can act as sponsors or managers under the program. Each Work Orientation Workshop provides an employment experience and allows for a one-day labour market seminar on the labour-market outlook. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre or Employment Development Branch office see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 26
Native Internship Program: this program offers employment to native students during the summer months in various offices of Employment and Immigration Canada, including Canada Employment Centres, Employment Development Branch Offices, Canada Immigration Centres, regional offices, and national headquarters. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 27
International exchange programs/students: work programs are available that expose postsecondary students to the culture of another country. The work is not necessarily career-oriented. Inquiries: Youth Employment Directorate, Place du Portage, Phase IV, 5th Floor, Hull, Québec (mail: Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0J9), or nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

Disadvantaged individuals (EIC 28 – EIC 30)

EIC 28
Job Corps: EIC provides individuals who are at a severe employment disadvantage with the necessary preparation and employment-related skills to help them find jobs. Existing community resources, local businesses, and government services can support the integration of severely disadvantaged persons into the labour force. This program consolidates the former Local Employment Assistance Program (LEAP), Preparation component; and Canada Community Development/Youth Job Corps pilot projects. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre or Employment Development Branch office see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 29
ACCESS/employment disadvantaged: the Access Program stimulates the provision of employment opportunities for persons who need help in finding jobs. Employers are provided with a wage subsidy to hire individuals facing severe employment barriers. This program consolidates the former Program for the Employment Disadvantaged (PED), Portable Wage Subsidy (PWS) Program, New Technology Employment Program (NTEP), Canada Community Services Projects (CCSP), and Summer Canada Internships 1984. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre or Employment Development Branch office see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 30
Employment Equity Consultative Program: this program is designed to remove discriminatory practices in employment and to achieve and maintain appropriate representation of women, aboriginal peoples, persons with disabilities, and visible minorities (the target groups) at all levels of the workplace. This program provides consultative services to industry and unions on the development of Employment Equity plans that would include goals and special measures for increasing, where necessary, the representation of the target groups in the workplace. Inquiries: any EIC regional office see Part II under cities listed above.

Foreign workers (EIC 31 – EIC 33)

EIC 31
Foreign worker recruitment: permission is given employers to recruit foreign workers if their admission will not adversely affect employment and career opportunities for Canadians. In deciding on these requests, EIC considers such factors as the availability of qualified Canadians, wages and working conditions, and additional employment or training opportunities that are expected to be created for Canadians as a result of the recruitment of foreign workers. Labour Market Planning and Adjustment Branch. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 32
Agricultural workers from Mexico and the Caribbean: foreign seasonal agricultural workers, commonly referred to as offshore workers, may enter Canada on a temporary basis from Mexico and the Caribbean to meet human resource needs that can not be met from within the Canadian labour market. Wage guarantees, housing standards, transportation costs, medical arrangements, and working conditions are included in the agreement between the workers, the employer, and the foreign government. Commonwealth Caribbean and Mexican Seasonal Agricultural Workers Programs. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 33
Canada – Mexico Exchange Program: this program provides practical career training to young specialists and technicians. Inquiries: Youth Employment Directorate, Place du Portage, Phase IV, 5th Floor, Hull, Québec (mail: Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0J9).

Employers (EIC 34 – EIC 41)

EIC 34
Employers/inventory of job seekers: job placement and employment counselling services are offered by Canada Employment Centres across the country to help employers find suitable workers and to help workers find jobs. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 35
Skill Shortages: this program is one of the six programs in the new Canadian Jobs Strategy. Skill Shortages provides financial assistance to employers to train workers in skills that are in short supply and in high demand. Under the program, the federal government partially reimburses employers for training costs and for employees' wages during training. Employers benefit by training their workers in needed skills. The workers benefit by acquiring skills in demand. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 36
Employer incentives/industrial training/training for employees: the federal government reimburses employers for a portion of the training costs incurred for approved employee training projects and provides consultation services concerning these projects. National Industrial Training Program. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 37
Employer-employee consultation service: financial incentives are available to encourage consultation between employers and their employees to deal jointly with the human resource side of company planning and to find ways of preventing or overcoming problems connected with technological updating, high employee turnover, declining productivity, or other disruptions. Industrial Adjustment Service. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 38
Employers' assistance/training for employees in highly skilled blue-collar trades and occupations: the federal government provides financial assistance to firms willing to initiate or expand training in occupations of national importance. Critical Trade Skills Training. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 39
Build a Winning Team: this booklet outlines a systematic approach to the selection and recruitment of the best staff for any business. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 40
Federal Contracts Program: this program encourages Crown corporations and businesses holding contracts with federal departments to take affirmative action initiatives that benefit women. Federal Contracts Program. Inquiries: any EIC regional office see Part II under cities listed above.

EIC 41
Canadian Government Annuity Program: the purpose of the Canadian Government Annuity Program is to meet its obligations to Canadians who purchased a Canadian government annuity either privately or through their employer's pension plan, by paying out annuities that have come due and by administering those that have not yet matured. Inquiries: Canadian Government Annuities Office, Box 12000, Bathurst, New Brunswick, E2A 4L8 (506) 548-7972 or see the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

Employment stimulation programs (EIC 42 – EIC 50)

EIC 42
Local Employment Assistance and Development (LEAD): EIC provides assistance through contributions and grants to increase the number of permanent jobs in localities of chronically high unemployment. Organizations representing community development interests may sponsor LEAD Infrastructure Projects, LEAD Enterprise Projects, or LEAD corporations. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre or Employment Development Branch office see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 43
Canada Works: EIC provides incremental, productive, term employment by funding useful projects in various communities. This program is a consolidation of the previous New Employment Expansion and Development Program; the Job Creation Program, under Section 38 of the Unemployment Insurance Act; the Canada Community Development Projects (Immediate Mode); the Special Response Feature; the Community Employment Program; and Summer Canada Projects 1984. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre or Employment Development Branch office see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 44
Modified Industry and Labour Adjustment Program (MILAP): this program is a series of special labour adjustment measures designed to respond to unemployment. It aims to help designated communities and workers in the parts of Canada most adversely affected by the decline of permanent jobs in their local labour market. The federal government introduced the two-year, $43-million MILAP undertaking on 21 June 1984. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 45
Community Futures: this program, now in the process of being developed, will assist the government in monitoring and anticipating economic change in order to aid development while the potential for recovery still exists. It will be geared to help communities hit by major layoffs and plant closures or faced with chronic unemployment and economic decline. Inquiries: nearest Employment Development Branch see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service Section, page 16.

EIC 46
Job Entry: one of the six programs of the Canadian Jobs Strategy, this program is designed to integrate formal training and work experience through four options. The Entry option assists unemployed young men and women making a transition from school to work. Re-entry assists women making a transition from home to the labour market. Co-operative Education provides school-based work-study programs for students. Future Summer Programming will provide training and work experience related to the career path of students planning to return to school. The experimental Youth Training Option (see EIC 19), which was implemented in November 1984, will become part of Job Entry. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 47
Job Development: EIC provides a blend of training and work experience for individuals who have been jobless for 24 of the 30 previous weeks, so that they will be able to participate more effectively in the labour market. This program, part of the Canadian Jobs Strategy, provides for placement into subsidized projects or individually subsidized jobs, and encourages the private sector to provide training and work experience in real work settings. Clients may participate in the program for up to 52 weeks or may move from Job Development to other employment programs. Activities may concentrate on specific industrial sectors, with the goal of bringing clients up to industry standards in a set of generic skills related to local industry needs. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre or Employment Development Branch office see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 48
Skill Investment: one of the six programs in the new Canadian Jobs Strategy, Skill Investment brings help to workers whose jobs are threatened by changing technology and economic conditions. It gives workers a chance to learn new skills before they are laid off or their existing skills become redundant. Under this program, the federal government subsidizes the training costs and wages of workers on full- or part-time training leave; financially supports training for self-employed workers, owners, managers, and employees of small businesses; contributes to training trust funds established by workers and employers. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 49
Innovations: the National Labour Market Innovations Program provides financial assistance for pilot and demonstration projects that test new solutions to labour market problems. There are no predetermined limits: individuals, business, labour organizations, non-profit groups, educational and training agencies may apply. Proposed projects must not already be part of on-going activities or programs. They may focus on such labour market concerns as new training technologies, new delivery systems for learning, innovative bridging programs to help workers entering or re-entering the work force, alternative work arrangements related to labour market adjustments, and more effective links between training and job creation. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 51
Unemployment insurance/general: temporary financial aid is available to qualified unemployed workers who are seeking jobs. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 52
Unemployment Insurance Work Sharing Program: EIC aims to avoid temporary layoffs by offering alternative income support to eligible claimants who are employed under an approved work-sharing agreement. Workers share the available work to avoid the layoff of fellow employees and are partially compensated for reduced hours by the payment of unemployment insurance work-sharing benefits. Training is also an alternative on work-sharing days. A limited number of pilot projects demonstrating the use of work sharing in cases of permanent decline will also be carried out. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 53
Unemployment insurance/employment training: income support is available for training participants who have been referred by the Commission. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 54
Unemployment insurance/supplemental benefit: employers, either on their own initiative or through the collective bargaining process, may introduce a supplemental unemployment benefit (SUB) plan for their employees. The object of a SUB plan is to supplement the unemployment insurance benefit paid to workers by Employment and Immigration Canada during periods of unemployment due to lack of work, illness, or pregnancy. SUB plans must be approved by EIC so that SUB payments are not considered as earnings for unemployment insurance purposes and are not deducted from unemployment insurance benefits. Coverage and Premium Policy Division, Employment and Insurance Services. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 994-2742.

EIC 55
Unemployment insurance appeals: claimants and employers have the right to appeal to a federally appointed independent body against decisions by the Canada Employment and Immigration Commission on claims for unemployment insurance. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 56

EIC 65
Independent immigrants/immigration to Canada: assisted relatives, retired people, entrepreneurs, the self-employed, and others applying on their own initiative, are eligible to immigrate to Canada as independent immigrants. Except for retired people, all are selected according to criteria in the point system. Immigration. Inquiries: nearest Canada Immigration Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 66
Immigration/Family class: anyone who is at least 18 years of age and is a Canadian citizen or a permanent resident may sponsor close relatives for immigration to Canada under the Family Class Program. Immigration. Inquiries: nearest Canada Immigration Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 67
Sponsoring a relative/immigration: Canadian citizens or permanent residents who offer to sponsor or help a relative to immigrate to Canada must sign a legally binding agreement promising support for a specific period of time. Immigration. Inquiries: nearest Canada Immigration Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 68
Refugees/Convention class: people eligible to immigrate to Canada under the convention refugee class are those who are unable or unwilling to return to their country of nationality or residence because they fear persecution for reasons of race, religion, nationality, membership in a particular social group, or political opinion; who show evidence that they could successfully settle in Canada with the assistance provided by the government and voluntary organizations; and who either fall within the purview of the annual plan for govenment-assisted refugees or whose resettlement is funded by a private group, a relative, or from their own or private resources. Immigration. Inquiries: nearest Canada Immigration Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 69
Refugees/Special Designated classes: many displaced or persecuted persons are accepted under special, designated classes, of which three are currently in effect: the self-exiled, Indo-Chinese, and political prisoners and oppressed persons. Other persons are admitted for humanitarian reasons according to special, administrative immigration programs approved by the Minister, of which six are currently in effect: programs accepting persons from El Salvador, Iran, Iraq, Lebanon, Sri Lanka, and Guatemala. Private organizations, which must sign a legally binding agreement promising support for one year, may apply to sponsor a refugee or designated-class person to immigrate to Canada. Immigration. Inquiries: nearest Canada Immigration Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 70
Refugees/Admissibility loans: loans for medical examinations are available to refugees and other persons in the Designated Immigration class. Immigration. Inquiries: nearest Canada Immigration Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 71
Transportation loans: loans are available to refugees and other immigrants for paying the cost of transportation to their destination in Canada as well as related costs. Immigration. Inquiries: nearest Canada Immigration Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 72
Immigrant Settlement and Adaptation Program: in addition to the settlement services offered by the federal and provincial governments, a variety of settlement services are purchased by EIC from voluntary organizations across the country to help immigrants successfully adapt to life in Canada. Immigration. Inquiries: nearest Canada Immigration Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 73
Adjustment Assistance Program: the Department provides financial assistance to certain indigent immigrants to Canada in need of help until their available income matches their needs. The Settlement Branch, Immigration, is responsible for the policy and development of the program, but it is delivered by the Employment Branch through the local Canada Employment Centre. Immigration. Inquiries: nearest Canada Employment Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 74
Host Program for Refugee Settlement: this is a pilot program designed to facilitate the settlement and adaptation into Canadian communities of government-assisted refugees and designated-class persons requiring financial support under the Adjustment Assistance Program, and who would benefit from the assistance of a host group. Host groups will provide direct emotional support and orientation to both government- and privately sponsored refugees. Immigration. Inquiries: nearest Canada Immigration Centre see part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 75
Programs for Special-Needs Refugees: the Department provides for the admission and settlement of special-needs refugees and members of a designated class who under normal circumstances would not qualify for admission to Canada, but who, with some additional settlement assistance, would be capable of achieving self-sufficiency within a reasonable period of time. There are four programs for refugees with special needs: the Handicapped Refugee Program, Tubercular Refugee Program, Joint Assistance Program, and Unaccompanied Minors Program. Immigration. Inquiries: nearest Canada Immigration Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 76
Returning residents' permits: permanent residents (but not Canadian citizens) who wish to leave Canada for a temporary period may apply for a returning resident's permit to produce on their return as evidence that they did not intend to abandon their Canadian residency. EIC advises permanent residents intending to remain outside Canada for more than 183 days in any 12-month period to obtain such a permit. Immigration. Inquiries: nearest Canada Immigration Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 77
Immigration inquiries: anyone denied permission to come into Canada at a port of entry, or to remain once in Canada, has the right to be heard by an adjudicator. Immigration. Inquiries: nearest Canada Immigration Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EIC 78
Deportation/immigration: visitors or permanent residents whose presence in Canada may endanger public health or welfare or who otherwise are in violation of the Immigration Act may be required to leave after an immigration inquiry. Immigration. Inquiries: nearest Canada Immigration Centre see Part II or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

The Department's objective is to encourage the discovery, development, and intelligent use of the country's mineral and energy resources and to broaden the knowledge of Canada's landmass. The Department formulates national policies based on social and economic analysis and on research and data collection in the earth, mineral, and metal sciences.
Minister responsible:
Minister of Energy, Mines and Resources

Energy resources (EMR 1 – EMR 12)

EMR 1
Energy policies and programs: general inquiries on the government of Canada's energy policies and programs may be directed to the Communications Branch, Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-3065.

EMR 2
Canadianization: a major goal of the federal government energy policy is to increase opportunities for Canadians in the petroleum industry. The federal government's goal is to achieve at least 50 per cent Canadian ownership of the oil and gas industry, as measured by upstream revenues. The stimulation of new investment by Canadians in the petroleum industry, in response to the Atlantic and Western Accords and the recent federal budget, will provide a prime source of economic growth and job creation. Canadianization Division, Corporate Development and Economic Analysis Branch, Energy Policy and Analysis Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-9351.

EMR 3
Energy statistics: energy statistics are maintained on supply, demand, and prices for all energy commodities. Market Analysis and Statistics Division, Energy Policy Analysis Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 996-9533.

EMR 4
Coal identification/estimates: the Geological Survey (Calgary office) is responsible for identifying, evaluating, and estimating the quality, quantity, and distribution of coal. Geological Survey of Canada, Earth Sciences Sector. Inquiries: Calgary (403) 284-0413.

EMR 5
Coal policy: the development of federal coal policies is the responsibility of the Coal and Alternative Energy Branch, Conservation and Non-Petroleum Sector, which also provides information and conducts technical studies on coal and related matters. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-1118.

EMR 6
Coal resources and reserve appraisal/research and development: the Canada Centre for Mineral and Energy Technology investigates the quality and recoverability of coal. It is responsible for the research and development of technologies pertaining to coal mining and beneficiation, coal carbonization, coal combustion, transportation by slurry pipeline, gasification, and liquefaction. Technology Information Division, CANMET, Research and Technology Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-4029 or 995-4039.

EMR 7
Coal Utilization Program: this program is designed to increase the contribution of coal to the energy supply of Atlantic Canada by supporting the development of new coal-utilization technologies, up to the commercial application stage, that will permit coal to be consumed in more efficient and environmentally benign ways. A number of promising technologies are being developed, including fluidized-bed combustion and dense coal-liquid mixtures. The program is scheduled to end 31 March 1986. Coal and Alternative Energy Branch, Conservation and Non-Petroleum Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-1118.

EMR 8
Non-renewable energy and mineral resources/identification and estimates: the Geological Survey is responsible for the identification and evaluation of non-renewable energy sources (oil, gas, coal, and uranium) and mineral resources, and for the provision of estimates of their quality, quantity, and distribution. Geological Survey of Canada, Earth Sciences Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-4089; Calgary (403) 284-0303.

EMR 9
Uranium mining and processing: the Canada Centre for Mineral and Energy Technology monitors the development of Canada's uranium resources and provides biennial assessments of ore reserves, existing productive capacity, and the technical feasibility of potential uranium mines and uranium processing establishments. Technology Information Division, CANMET, Research and Technology Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-4064.

EMR 10
Nuclear energy technology/research and development: the Canada Centre for Mineral and Energy Technology conducts research on radioactive ores to develop uranium extraction and chemical analysis techniques. Technology Information Division, CANMET, Research and Technology Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-4064.

EMR 11
Nuclear policy: information pertaining to Canadian uranium, thorium, and nuclear potential, as well as advice and guidance on uranium, nuclear energy, and radioactive waste management policies and related matters is available from the Uranium and Nuclear Energy Branch, Conservation and Non-Petroleum Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-1118.

EMR 12
Electrical policy and power: the Conservation and Non-Petroleum Sector maintains electrical statistics, including information on electrical policy, pricing, utilities, and generating stations. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-1118.

Oil and gas industry (EMR 13 – EMR 35)

Taxation and transport (EMR 13 – EMR 18)

EMR 13
Petroleum and Gas Revenue Tax: this is a tax on production revenue minus operating costs, non-Crown royalties, and, where Crown royalties or taxes based on production are payable, a 25 per cent resource allowance. The basic rate of tax is currently 16 per cent. With the resource allowance deduction, the effective rate is currently 12 per cent. Under the terms of the Western Accord, the PGRT is to be phased out by 1989, and no PGRT is payable on production from new wells and new enhanced recovery projects. In addition, companies that are unable to deduct new exploration and development expenses against corporate income tax will be able to use these unused write-offs to reduce PGRT otherwise payable. The effective rate of tax for synthetic oil production from oil sands plants is 8 per cent to 31 December 1985, and is scheduled to be reduced by two per cent per year with total elimination by 1989. Working interest corporations are also allowed an annual credit against tax liabilities. The maximum level of this credit was increased to $500 000 from $250 000, effective January 1985. Individuals are allowed an exemption of the first $10 000 in income before paying PGRT, effective 1 January 1986. Financial and Fiscal Analysis Branch, Energy Policy Analysis Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-9351.

EMR 14
Basic royalty: a royalty is levied at the rate of 10 per cent on gross oil and gas production revenue derived from the Canada Lands. A deduction for gas processing and separating is allowed in the case of natural gas production. Financial and Fiscal Analysis, Energy Policy Analysis Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-9351.

EMR 15
Progressive Incremental Royalty: a royalty is levied at the rate of 40 per cent on net profits from oil and gas production in the Canada Lands. Net profit is gross production revenue minus deductions for operating costs, the Petroleum and Gas Revenue Tax, a national income tax abatement, the basic royalty, a 25 per cent allowed rate of return on invested capital, and a one-sixth allowance for capital costs. Financial and Fiscal Analysis Branch, Energy Policy Analysis Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-9351.

EMR 16
Income tax on resource income: the income tax on resource income from the petroleum industry is similar to the income tax on other types of income. A number of deductions specific to the resource sector are, however, allowed in addition to more general deductions, such as the Capital Cost Allowance. These include Canadian exploration expenses, Canadian development expenses, Canadian oil and gas property expenses, depletion, and the resource allowance. Financial and Fiscal Analysis Branch, Energy Policy Analysis Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-9351.

EMR 17
Oil transportation: the Petroleum Sector monitors and assesses oil transportation, oil pipeline proposals, and oil tanker proposals. Oil Branch, Petroleum Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-2500.

EMR 18
Natural gas transportation: the Petroleum Sector monitors and assesses natural gas transportation proposals, including pipeline and liquefied natural gas proposals. Natural Gas Branch, Petroleum Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-2500.

Pricing (EMR 19 – EMR 22)

EMR 19
Oil products/markets/prices: information is provided regarding markets and prices for Canadian petroleum products (gasoline, diesel fuel, furnace oil, and stove oil). Petroleum Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-2500.

EMR 20
Domestic natural gas pricing/markets: information regarding domestic markets and prices for natural gas, including information on the Natural Gas Markets Incentive Plan (expires 30 April 1986) and Market Development Incentive Payments (expires 30 April 1987), is available from the Natural Gas Branch, Petroleum Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-2500.

EMR 21
Natural gas liquids: information regarding domestic and export markets and pricing of natural gas liquids (ethane, butane, propane) is available from the Natural Gas Branch, Petroleum Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-2500.

EMR 22
Natural gas export pricing: effective 1 November 1984 exporters of natural gas have the option of pricing their gas under the Volume Related Incentive Pricing (VRIP) Program or of negotiating a price subject to regulatory review and government approval. Information regarding natural gas export pricing policy is available from the Natural Gas Branch, Petroleum Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-2500.

Oil/research and development (EMR 23 – EMR 27)

EMR 23
Oil resources/research and development: the Canada Centre for Mineral and Energy Technology investigates oil resources through characterization of the chemical and physical properties of unprocessed bitumens and heavy oils, and of the conversion products from bitumens, heavy oils, and coal. Technology Information Division, CANMET, Research and Technology Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-4075.

EMR 24
Oil technology/research and development: research is conducted in oil sands mining and processing methods, and in refining processes for bitumen and heavy oils. Technology Information Division, CANMET, Research and Technology Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-4075.

EMR 25
Heavy oil development/fossil fuel research, development, and demonstration: the government of Canada and the government of Saskatchewan have established this program to encourage the research, development, and demonstration of new technologies that facilitate expanded production and use of Saskatchewan's fossil fuel resources, with particular emphasis on heavy oil and lignite coal. Canada and Saskatchewan have agreed to share equally the costs of the program, which is administered by Saskatchewan under the general direction of a federal-provincial management committee. Petroleum Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-2500.

EMR 26
Petroleum refinery technology: information is provided on the Canadian refining system, refining technology, and the abilities of Canadian refiners to meet present and projected demands for petroleum products. Downstream Petroleum Technology, Petroleum Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-2500.

EMR 27
Oil supply planning: the Petroleum Sector is responsible for the medium- and long-term assessment of domestic crude production, availability of offshore oil, and security of oil supplies. Petroleum Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-2500.

Natural gas/development assistance (EMR 28 – EMR 30)

EMR 28
Natural Gas Laterals Program: under this program Canada assists financially in the construction of natural gas lateral pipelines in the province of Québec. Natural Gas Branch, Petroleum Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-2500.

EMR 29
Gas Marketing Assistance Program: this program implements the National Energy Board's recommendation that development prices be available to distributors expanding into market areas in Québec opened up by the Trans Québec & Maritimes (TQM) pipeline. Natural Gas Branch, Petroleum Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-2500.

Energy, Mines and Resources Canada (continued)

EMR 30
Natural Gas Fuelling Station Contribution Program: taxable federal contributions, not exceeding $50 000, were offered for up to 50 per cent of the eligible capital costs of installing a retail, natural gas fuelling facility. The final deadline for receipt of completed applications under this program was 30 November 1985. Coal and Alternative Energy Branch, Conservation and Non-Petroleum Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-5415.

Petroleum monitoring and incentives (EMR 31 – EMR 33)

EMR 31
Petroleum Monitoring Agency (PMA): this federal agency is a fact-finding organization. It was established by an act of Parliament to provide public and private users with comprehensive and objective information about the status and performance of the oil and gas industry in Canada. The agency reports semi-annually on production, revenue and profits, flow of funds, capital expenditures, ownership and control, and other results and measures of industry performance. Petroleum Monitoring Agency. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 996-4444.

EMR 32
Canadian Ownership and Control Determination Program (COCD): this program measures the Canadian ownership rate (COR) and determines the control status of persons carrying on exploration activity in the Canada Lands who require a COR/CS determination in order to receive incentives under the Petroleum Incentives Program. This program, to the extent that it is linked to the Petroleum Incentives Program, is being phased out as a result of the Western Accord of 28 March 1985. Petroleum Incentives Administration. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 996-2611.

EMR 33
Petroleum Incentives Program (PIP): this program is being phased out as a result of the Western Accord of 28 March 1985. PIP is available to Canadians who participate in petroleum and gas exploration in the Canada Lands. Benefits depend on the Canadian ownership rate and control status of applicants, as well as on the type of undertaking. The program accepts applications for incentives from corporations, partnerships, trusts, or individuals. Petroleum Incentives Administration. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 996-2611.

Emergency supplies (EMR 34 – EMR 35)

EMR 34
Emergency oil stocks/inventory: the Petroleum Sector studies the ability of industry reserves to meet supply shortfalls and to meet the need for additional oil stocks. Petroleum Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-2500.

EMR 35
Energy Supplies Allocation Board: established by the Energy Supplies Emergency Act, 1979, the Board is responsible, in a national emergency, for the allocation of crude oil to refiners, for the allocation of refined petroleum products to wholesale customers, and for the administration of a rationing program to reinforce the allocation programs as required. When there is no emergency, the Board monitors trends in petroleum supply and demand in order to evaluate the need for recommending the introduction of a mandatory allocation program as provided by the Act. Energy Supplies Allocation Board. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-2500.

Energy conservation (EMR 36 – EMR 64)

Home energy and oil substitution programs (EMR 36 – EMR 43)

EMR 36
Buildings and residences/Super Energy-Efficient Home (SEEH) Program: this program will provide a total of $50 million to encourage the construction of up to 20 000, super energy-efficient, R-2000 homes across the country over a seven-year period from 1984-85 to 1990-91. Funding available under the program will be used to provide assistance for the design, evaluation, and identification of houses constructed to the R-2000 standard; to train builders and tradespeople in the appropriate techniques involved in R-2000 construction; and to increase the public's awareness of the benefits of owning a super energy-efficient, R-2000 home. EMR developed this program in co-operation with the Canadian Home Builders' Association (CHBA), formerly the Housing and Urban Development Association of Canada (HUDAC), which will continue to assist in the implementation and management of the program. Technology Transfer and Demonstration Programs Division, Energy Conservation and Oil Substitution Branch, Conservation and Non-Petroleum Sector. Inquiries: any Conservation and Renewable Energy Office see Part II under the cities listed above or see the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16; in Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-1118.

EMR 37
Canadian Home Insulation Program: CHIP is administered by Energy, Mines and Resources Canada to promote residential energy conservation. The processing of grants is carried out by the Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation under a contract with EMR. Under this program, owners, landlords, or tenants may receive up to $500 for the insulation and draftproofing of single-family homes, semidetached or rowhouse units, small apartment buildings, and non-profit hostels. For an owner to be eligible, the structure must be a principal residence, no more than three storeys high, and built before 1 January 1977. In Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island, however, homeowners are eligible only if they did not receive a grant under the former provincial Home Insulation Program. In Yukon, the Northwest Territories, and Newfoundland, owners of homes built before 1 September 1977 are eligible for a CHIP grant. The basic taxable grant covers 33 1/3 per cent of insulating material costs or combined material and labour costs, to a maximum of $500. Work must be completed and applications received by 31 March 1986, when the program ends. Energy Conservation and Oil Substitution Branch, Conservation and Non-Petroleum Sector. Inquiries: CHIP regional offices see Part II under the cities listed above or see the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EMR 38
Heatline Advisory Service: the HEATLINE is a toll-free, telephone advisory service that responds over the phone and through the provision of publications, to public inquiries concerning residential energy conservation and heating systems. It answers questions on home energy management, home energy analyses, insulation, draftproofing (caulking and weatherstripping), renewable energy sources (such as solar heat and wood) and conventional sources of energy. The HEATLINE also responds to general questions about residential incentive programs (such as CHIP) offered by Energy, Mines and Resources Canada. Conservation and Non-Petroleum Sector. Inquiries: to call the HEATLINE see the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16; in Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-1801.

EMR 39
Home energy analysis: the Ener$ave analysis is a free, home-energy analysis designed to help householders determine the areas in their home that can be made more energy efficient. After filling out and returning an Ener$ave questionnaire, the householder will receive recommendations on draftproofing and insulating the home, estimates of the cost of such work, and the energy and money that might be saved by implementing the recommendations. Inquiries: for an Ener$ave questionnaire call the HEATLINE see the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16; in Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-1801.

EMR 40
Northern residential energy standards: in conjunction with the provincial and territorial governments, EMR will be developing energy conservation standards for northern housing, based on climatic conditions, energy supplies and costs, and future housing requirements, with a view to applying the standards to all federally funded and insured housing units constructed. EMR has established a committee to develop the standards, which includes representatives from the involved provinces and territories; Energy, Mines and Resources Canada; Indian and Northern Affairs Canada; Public Works Canada, and the Canada Mortgage and Housing Corporation. Energy Conservation and Oil Substitution Branch, Conservation and Non-Petroleum Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-1118.

EMR 41
Remote Community Demonstration Program: this program promotes awareness and implementation of oil reduction and displacement opportunities in remote communities in the territories and provinces. These opportunities consist of alternative energy supply technologies and energy conservation measures in the generation of electrical power and in space heating. In two phases over the period from summer 1982 to March 1989, the program will first, assist remote communities in identifying and assessing their conservation and off-oil options and second, demonstrate a limited number of technically and economically feasible options in selected communities across the country. Other authorities responsible for or having a direct interest in remote community energy supply are eligible for assistance under the program. Coal and Alternative Energy Branch, Conservation and Non-Petroleum Sector. Inquiries: any Conservation and Renewable Energy Office see Part II under the cities listed above or see the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EMR 42
Energy conservation and oil substitution: the Energy Conservation and Oil Substitution Branch provides policy analysis, program planning, monitoring, review and evaluation, and develops and implements the conservation and oil substitution elements of the National Conservation and Alternative Energy Initiative. Conservation and Non-Petroleum Sector. Inquiries: call the HEATLINE see the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16; or Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-1801.

EMR 43
Conservation and Renewable Energy Offices: CREOs in each province and the territories are equipped to provide a full range of services to the public and to the industrial, commercial, and institutional sectors on energy options and programs. In addition to administering a wide range of energy conservation and renewable and alternate energy programs, CREOs provide valuable advice to the government of Canada on specific regional energy concerns. Inquiries: nearest Conservation and Renewable Energy office see Part II under the cities listed above or see the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

Energy conservation in industry, commerce, agriculture (EMR 44 – EMR 50)

EMR 44
Canada Energy Audit Program (CEAP): this program, which has replaced the federal-provincial National Energy Audit Program (NEAP), helps industrial and commercial establishments and private institutions identify areas of energy waste and plan and implement energy-efficient projects. This is accomplished through on-site energy audits. CEAP's approved budget is $40 million. The two-year program terminates on 31 March 1986. Energy Conservation and Oil Substitution Branch, Conservation and Non-Petroleum Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-9447.

EMR 45
Industrial Energy Research and Development Program: this program aims at promoting the development of new and improved processes, systems, products, and equipment that will increase the efficiency of energy use throughout industry, and at encouraging the widest possible use of the technology developed under the program. The IERD program will normally contribute up to 50 per cent of the eligible costs of approved projects undertaken by companies established in Canada, trade and research organizations, and consulting firms. Industrial Energy Division. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-9447.

EMR 46
Canadian Industry Program for Energy Conservation: CIPEC emphasizes effective management of energy requirements by Canadian industry and promotes husbandry of energy resources in Canadian manufacturing. The aims of the 16 task forces currently operating under the program are to promote energy conservation, to exchange information on efficient use of energy and on related projects, and to maintain contacts with government representatives. The program activities of the task forces include regular meetings, seminars, and workshops for exchange of information on energy conservation measures and energy-efficient technologies; the setting of voluntary, energy efficiency improvement targets; preparation and submission to the government of annual, energy efficiency progress reports; consultation with government officials, and provision of a focal point for government-industry dialogue on energy conservation issues. Energy Conservation and Oil Substitution Branch, Conservation and Non-Petroleum Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-9447.

EMR 47
Buildings Energy Technology Transfer (BETT) Program: this program, with an annual budget of about $3 million, aims to develop and transfer to the building industry technical knowledge and skills on energy conservation techniques. It works closely with the building industry to respond to requests for precise and reliable technical information needed to plan and implement cost-effective and safe energy conservation measures in various types of buildings. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-1118.

EMR 48
Commercial, Institutional, Agricultural Energy Management Task Force: this program aims to promote energy conservation and the efficient use of energy resource requirements in these sectors. There are six task forces currently operating under the program whose main functions are to exchange and disseminate energy conservation information and accomplishments; to serve as diverse focal points for discussions on measures for overcoming constraints to improvement of energy efficiency, whether technical, procedural, or financial; to establish targets for improvement in energy use and to develop a system for annual reporting of progress; to serve as a major communications link on energy matters between government, the commercial sector, institutions, agriculture, the media, and the public. Energy Conservation and Oil Substitution Branch, Conservation and Non-Petroleum Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-9447.

EMR 49
Federal Energy Management Program: this program aims to accelerate cost-effective energy management activities in federal government buildings. It provides services on a cost-recovery basis for utility and facility audits, preparation of plans and specifications, and training and information dissemination. Projects with a good demonstration value in retrofit are emphasized and funding priorities are set for study and analysis reports and capital improvements. Energy Conservation and Oil Substitution Branch, Conservation and Non-Petroleum Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-9447.

EMR 50
Class 34 energy conservation equipment tax incentive program: the 25 May 1976 federal budget added Class 34 to Schedule II, Capital Cost Classes of the Income Tax Regulations. This accelerated tax write-off now entitles taxpayers to a three-year, modified, straight-line tax write-off to cover the capital cost of new equipment that would normally be placed in Class 2 or Class 8 of the Regulations. On 11 December 1979 the period was extended to cover assets purchased before 1985, and significant additions were made to the list of qualifying materials. On 13 December 1984, the program was extended for an indefinite period. Energy Conservation and Oil Substitution Branch, Conservation and Non-Petroleum Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-9447.

Alternative energy/research, development, and demonstration (EMR 51 – EMR 59)

EMR 51
Renewable Energy Program: this program provides general and technical information on renewable energy, including biomass, solar, and wind power. Activities include financial support for research, development, and demonstration projects, and the transfer of project results and information to the public, commercial, industrial, and institutional sectors. The program aims to encourage the development of cost-effective renewable energy technologies and their associated industries through an integrated research, development, and demonstration program spanning product development, project demonstration, and information transfer. Achievement of this objective depends on private sector, provincial, and territorial efforts. Renewable Energy Division, Coal and Alternative Energy Branch. Inquiries: any Conservation and Renewable Energy Office see Part II under the cities listed above or see the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16; in Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-9447.

EMR 52
Solar Domestic Hot Water Demonstration: this program will support the installation of solar water heaters in homes and small businesses throughout Canada. EMR contributes a portion of the installed price of the system. The program seeks to demonstrate cost and performance improvements in systems, provide a market for systems, provide installation and operational experience, and generate public interest. A selected number of systems will be monitored for performance and operational data once the installations are completed. The program will expire in 1988. Renewable Energy Division, Conservation and Non-Petroleum Sector. Inquiries: any Conservation and Renewable Energy Office see Part II under the cities listed above or see the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EMR 53
Commercial, Industrial Solar Demonstration: this program, which runs to March 1988, aims to demonstrate cost and performance improvements in commercial solar energy systems, provide a commercial market for systems, provide installation and marketing experience, and generate interest in the commercial and industrial sectors. It will contribute funds towards individual demonstration projects based on the cost and performance of the system. The current maximum contribution will be either 50 per cent of the total project cost or up to 90 dollars per gigajoule of annual deliverable energy, whichever is less, for commercial or institutional applications, and 50 per cent or 70 dollars for industrial process heat applications. Monitoring of system performance and operation is an important component of this program. Renewable Energy Division, Coal and Alternative Energy Branch, Conservation and Non-Petroleum Sector. Inquiries: any Conservation and Renewable Energy Office see Part II under the cities listed above or see the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

EMR 54
Special Projects Solar Demonstration: this program, scheduled to expire in 1988, provides funding for innovative projects that can demonstrate the capacity to improve the cost and performance of active solar energy systems and accelerate the acceptance of such systems by the Canadian public and the commercial sectors. One example is the demonstration of a solar-assisted heat pump in a residential application. Monitoring of projects is an essential component of the program. Renewable Energy Division, Coal and Alternative Energy Branch, Conservation and Non-Petroleum Sector. Inquiries: any Conservation and Renewable Energy Office see Part II under the cities listed above or see the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16, or Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-9447.

EMR 55
Bioenergy Development Program: this federally funded program promotes the research and development of bioenergy technologies, including the conversion of biomass into energy, prepared fuels, and energy-intensive chemicals. The program is conducted almost entirely by contracting research, development, and demonstration projects to Canadian organizations and individuals capable of performing the work in this field. Biomass research projects are selected for funding from proposals received in response to an annual request for proposals. Bioenergy Development Program, Coal and Alternative Energy Branch, Conservation and Non-Petroleum Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-9447.

EMR 56
Forest Industry Renewable Energy Program: this program provides financial and technical information on the installation of bioenergy projects for industrial, commercial, and institutional energy users. The program aims to accelerate the diffusion of proven and economically attractive bioenergy technologies. The program covers energy conversion and fuel processing projects involving forest, municipal, industrial, and agricultural wastes. Forest Industry Renewable Energy Program, Renewable Energy Division, Coal and Alternative Energy Branch, Conservation and Non-Petroleum Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-9447.

EMR 57
Alternative Energy Development Program for PEI: as part of a sub-program of the Economic and Regional Development Agreement for PEI, this federal-provincial initiative will encourage the use of biomass as an energy source for commercial-industrial or institutional users. Federal efforts include incentives for use of biomass energy systems under the Biomass Conversion Program and development of products for residential wood-chip burners. Provincial efforts will focus on developing a biofuel supply infrastructure. Inquiries: the Conservation and Renewable Energy Office in Summerside see Part II or see the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16; or the Department of Energy and Forestry for the Province of Prince Edward Island.

Energy conservation technology/research and development: investigation into energy conservation is conducted in the areas of conventional fuel combustion processes, new combustion processes, energy recovery, and energy storage. Technology Information Division, CANMET, Research and Technology Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-4075.

EMR 59
Energy science and technology data bases: the Energy Projects computerized data base (ENG) provides information to the public on significant energy research and development projects, demonstration projects, and some development projects currently under way in Canada. The Energy Programs data base (ENP) gives descriptions of federal and provincial programs, and the names of people to contact for further information. Inquiries: QL Systems Limited, Ottawa/Hull (613) 238-3499.

Transportation/alternative fuels (EMR 60 – EMR 64)

EMR 60
Alternative fuels research and development: the federal government allocates funding each year for research and development in the area of new liquid fuels. Supplemental research funds from Canadian industries and provincial governments are also expected. Federal funding for 1985-86 is $22 million; for 1986-87, $18 million, and for 1987-88, $17 million. Coal and Alternative Energy Branch, Conservation and Non-Petroleum Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-9447.

EMR 61
Motor Vehicle Fuel Consumption Program: a voluntary program of standards has been operating since 1977. Legislation passed in 1982 to mandate the standards remains unproclaimed, given the successful operation of the voluntary program. Future standards and related public information programs are now under consideration. Information on the fuel efficiency of vehicles is available to consumers. Coal and Alternative Energy Branch, Conservation and Non-Petroleum Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-9447.

EMR 62
Natural Gas Vehicle Program: taxable federal contributions of $500 are offered to individuals and fleet operators for each vehicle converted to or purchased new with a natural gas system. Coal and Alternative Energy Branch, Conservation and Non-Petroleum Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-5415.

EMR 63
Ride-Sharing Program: this commuter, energy conservation initiative provides funding of $125 000 per year to a ride-sharing centre in Montréal (Covoiturage Québec Inc and $75 000 per year to the Canadian Association of Van Pool Operators. The program ends 31 March 1986. Transportation Energy Division, Conservation and Non-Petroleum Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-9447.

EMR 64
Truck Outreach Program (Pro-Trucker): this program of technical information transfer is under development for companies involved in trucking. A one-year pilot project called Pro-Trucker is now under way in Manitoba. Coal and Alternative Energy Branch, Conservation and Non-Petroleum Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-9447.

EMR 75
Air distances: direct air distances expressed in kilometres, statute miles, and nautical miles between two geographical positions, are used by various agencies to determine measures such as tariffs on transporting goods by air. Geographical Services Division, Surveys and Mapping Branch, Earth Sciences Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-4150.

Aerial photographs: the National Air Photo Library processes, reproduces, and sells aerial photos; 35 mm, colour, microfiche photo indexes; Landsat slides; Landsat black-and-white and colour mosaics, and 16 mm black-and-white photo imagery cartridges. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-4560.

Surveys and mapping (EMR 77 – EMR 87)

EMR 77
Boundaries/provincial and territorial/surveys: provincial and territorial boundaries set by federal-provincial boundary commissions are surveyed by the Legal Surveys Division, Surveys and Mapping Branch, Earth Sciences Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-4341.

EMR 78
Boundary/Canada – United States/surveys: the International Boundary Commission, in conjunction with External Affairs Canada and in co-operation with the United States, is responsible for the maintenance, inspection, and resurveying of the Canada – United States boundary, and for enforcing the regulations controlling construction adjacent to the boundary. International Boundary Commission, Earth Sciences Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-4960.

EMR 79
Geodetic surveys: the Geodetic Survey provides national geodetic control survey data; advisory services on geodesy; field survey methods, and instrumentation, computations, and adjustments. Geodetic Survey, Surveys and Mapping Branch, Earth Sciences Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-4421.

EMR 80
Mapping/control survey markers: the Geodetic Survey establishes and maintains an integrated national network of control survey markers to provide precise geographical location points for use in mapping the Canadian landmass. Geodetic Survey Division, Surveys and Mapping Branch, Earth Sciences Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-4421.

EMR 81
Topographic mapping: the Topographical Survey Division is responsible for topographic mapping, at scales of 1:50 000 and 1:250 000, that portrays the Canadian landmass in detail, showing relief elevations and features, such as lakes, rivers, roads, buildings, and boundaries. Topographical Survey Division, Surveys and Mapping Branch, Earth Sciences Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-4321.

EMR 82
Land subdivision system/federal: the Legal Surveys Division is responsible for the procedures used to subdivide and designate Canada Lands for right-granting purposes. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-4495 or any regional Surveys and Mapping Branch office see Part II under the cities listed above.

EMR 85
Geological surveys and research: the Geological Survey provides data on the nature and magnitude of past and present processes that affect the evolution of the landscape; information on the formation of igneous and metamorphic rocks and mineral deposits through field and laboratory studies; data for maps and reports describing Canada's bedrock features; data on Canada's surface deposits for land use planning, construction engineering, environmental management, and regional development; data, technology, and expertise needed for the safe and effective use of terrain; and research on soil stability, transportation corridors, waste disposal, pipelines, and landslides. Geological Survey of Canada, Earth Sciences Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-4089.

EMR 86
Continental shelf surveys: offshore geological and geophysical surveys are carried out to prepare maps and reports on Canada's continental shelves and slopes. Geological Survey of Canada, Earth Sciences Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-4089; Halifax and Dartmouth (902) 426-2367.

EMR 87
Geophysical and geochemical surveys: geophysical and geochemical surveys are carried out to prepare maps useful for mineral exploration. Geological Survey of Canada, Earth Sciences Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-4089.

Rocks and minerals (EMR 88 – EMR 91)

EMR 88
Fossil, mineral, and rock identification: the Geological Survey identifies rock, mineral, and fossil samples submitted by the public. Geological Survey of Canada, Earth Sciences Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-4982.

EMR 89
Fossil research: the Geological Survey is responsible for the dating, correlation, and study of the environment of rocks, their paleoenvironment, and their paleogeography. Geological Survey of Canada, Earth Sciences Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-4089; Calgary (403) 284-0409.

EMR 90
Geological dating of rocks: the Geological Survey is responsible for the dating of consolidated and surficial materials as an aid to correlation of strata. Geological Survey of Canada, Earth Sciences Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-4089.

EMR 91
Rock and mineral sets: representative collections of Canadian rocks and minerals are for sale to the general public. Geological Survey of Canada, Earth Sciences Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-4342.

Research and information (EMR 92 – EMR 97)

EMR 92
Earth physics/research and information: the Earth Physics Branch operates seismological, geomagnetic, and geodynamic observatories; produces geomagnetic charts, regional gravity maps, and geomagnetic forecasts; studies earthquakes, seismic risk, geothermal energy, permafrost, magnetic storms, compass variation, earth structure and dynamics, the physical properties of rocks, the interior of the earth, and both onshore and offshore natural and induced geophysical hazards. Accounts of personal experiences of earthquakes may be sent to Earthquake Reports, Earth Physics Branch, 1 Observatory Crescent, Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0Y3. Inquiries: for geomagnetic forecasts, Ottawa/Hull (613) 992-1299; general inquiries, Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-5558 or Victoria (604) 656-8269.

EMR 93
Arctic research: the Polar Continental Shelf Project co-ordinates and provides logistical support and advice (aircraft, accommodation, radio network) for government, university, and other scientific parties; conducts research and provides information on the movement and physical properties of arctic glaciers; conducts research and provides information on the arctic environment; liaises with Inuit councils on scientific activity in their areas; and establishes research stations on ice floes and ice islands. Polar Continental Shelf Project, Earth Sciences Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 990-6987.

EMR 94
Geosciences/exploration and development information: the National GEOSCAN Centre co-ordinates the identification and indexing of publicly available Canadian geoscience documents for input into the GEOSCAN bibliographic data base. The 87 000 records in GEOSCAN represent the co-operative efforts of 12 federal and provincial geoscience agencies. Public documents of the Geological Survey of Canada and the Earth Physics Branch are included. National GEOSCAN Centre, Geological Survey of Canada, Earth Sciences Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 992-9550; search requests (613) 995-4142.

EMR 95
Geographical names: information on geographical names is available from the Secretariat, Canadian Permanent Committee on Geographical Names, Earth Sciences Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 992-3892.

Gazetteer of Canada: the Gazetteer of Canada is a series of 11 volumes (one for each province and territory except Québec, which produces its own), which contain approved Canadian geographical names, the National Topographic System map sheet number on which the names were approved, and the latitude and longitude of the location where the names apply. Earth Sciences Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 992-3892.

EMR 97
Library services: six libraries provide bibliographic and computer-based information services to EMR personnel, other federal departments, academic and research institutions, and the general public. The collections include 8000 journals, half a million bound volumes, as well as scientific reports, maps, pictures, and other information formats. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull – CANMET (613) 995-4132; Earth Physics 995-5558; Geological Survey 995-4151; Remote Sensing 993-9900; Surveys and Mapping 995-4071; Mineral and Energy Sectors 996-0825.

Research and technology (EMR 98 – EMR 103)

EMR 98
Remote sensing: the Canada Centre for Remote Sensing (CCRS) is the nucleus of a national program involving federal and provincial government departments, industry, and universities. It is responsible for the acquisition and analysis of remote sensing data from aircraft and satellites to assist in the development of effective information and management systems for Canada's land and ocean resources and environment. The CCRS is planning to launch Canada's first remote sensing satellite, RADARSAT, in 1990. Canada Centre for Remote Sensing, Research and Technology Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 993-9900; Airborne Data Acquisition Section (613) 998-3101.

EMR 99
Remote sensing research, technology, and applications information: the RESORS office collects and indexes international remote sensing literature for input into the Remote Sensing On-line Retrieval System. The 50 000 records in the RESORS data base are publicly accessible from any computer terminal via the Canadian DATAPAC network. Inquiries: Canada Centre for Remote Sensing, Ottawa, Ontario, K1A 0Y7 (613) 990-5870.

EMR 100
Research Agreements Program: grants are awarded to universities, museums, and established Canadian research organizations that operate at arm's length from the federal government, for proposals in engineering and the natural, physical, and social sciences. The program seeks to enhance the exchange of knowledge with the Canadian research community and makes funds available for proposals that support departmental programs and that may produce original ideas and creative approaches to current problems. Funds granted under the program are awarded on the basis of departmental priorities in areas where research is most urgently needed. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 992-6304.

EMR 101
Research and development/energy: the Office of Energy Research and Development is responsible for policy, strategy, and co-ordination for an interdepartmental program covering research and development in conservation, new liquid fuels, renewable energy, nuclear fusion, coal, heavy oils, oil and gas, and electricity. Resources for research and development projects, under the interdepartmental program, are allotted by EMR on the recommendation of the Interdepartmental Panel on Energy R&D to participating federal research organizations. They, in turn, contract out much of the work to Canadian private sector R&D performers through cost-shared programs with the private sector, such as the Industry Energy Research and Development Program, and through grants, contributions, and contracts. Office of Energy Research and Development, Research and Technology Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-9351.

EMR 102
Research and development/energy transportation: research is conducted into methods and materials for energy transportation, including coal slurries, liquid natural gas, and pipeline materials. Technology Information Division, CANMET, Research and Technology Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-4075.

EMR 103
Research and development services/minerals and energy: the Canada Centre for Mineral and Energy Technology (CANMET) conducts, sponsors, and contracts out work for applied research and development on mineral, metal, and fossil fuel technology, reflecting national and regional needs, and complementing research by the private sector. The technical knowledge base is disseminated by research staff and information specialists. Laboratory facilities are also utilized in carrying out research projects for industry on a full or partial cost-recovery basis. Some of the continuing studies include those relating to coal and mineral resource assessment, mining technology, and the health and safety of miners; fuel combustion and energy conservation technology; health, safety, and pollution control in the mineral industries; improved recovery from oil sands and heavy oil; explosives testing; improved quality of mineral-based materials; nuclear and mineral waste disposal; development of standards and specifications for improved recovery from low-grade ores; and chemical analysis. Technology Information Division, CANMET, Research and Technology Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-4029.

Minerals and explosives (EMR 104 – EMR 115)

EMR 104
Minerals/commodity-specific information, consultative service: information on mineral commodities based on domestic and foreign sources (producers, suppliers, markets, quotas, and prices) is provided. Non-confidential files may be viewed on the premises. Mineral Policy Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-9466; industrial minerals, ext 215; non-ferrous, ext 212; ferrous, ext 232.

EMR 105
Mineral inventory/consultative service: the National Mineral Inventory Division maintains records of known mineral deposits and occurrences (excluding petroleum and natural gas) throughout Canada. Some 19 000 records have been completed to date. Each record contains narrative-form summaries on the mineral's history of exploration and development, its history of production, if any, and a geological description of the deposit; details on location, map references, and bibliography are included. The Division also maintains current Canadian resource (reserve/production) data by deposit, and occasionally publishes compilations of mineral occurrences and resources. Records are available to the public on a fixed fee-per-unit basis and on a cost-recovery basis for computer files. Resource Supply and Information Branch, National Mineral Inventory, Mineral Policy Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-9466.

EMR 106
MINSYS: the National Mineral Inventory Division maintains MINSYS, a computerized and manual index to the Canadian mineral occurrence records. Mineral Policy Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-9466 ext 244.

EMR 107
Mineral statistics: a consultative service is offered on mineral statistical problems, and on data collection, availability, and interpretation. Statistics are compiled on mineral exploration expenditures, value of production, inventories, shipments, production of refined minerals and metal, minerals and metal prices, operating costs, trade by country, consumption by end use, employment, and wages. Information Systems Division, Mineral Policy Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-9466 ext 355.

EMR 108
Mineral supply/resources and reserves/consultative service: information is provided on resource concepts, classification and terminology, reserves and additional resources, the magnitude and effectiveness of mineral exploration in Canada, long-range mine supply capability, and ocean mining. Resource Policy Division, Mineral Policy Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-9466 ext 344.

EMR 109
Mineral trade/consultative service: an information service is offered on foreign interests competing with Canadian mineral producers, foreign investment opportunities for Canadian firms, and foreign policies on mineral trade. International Mineral Relations Division, Mineral Policy Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-9466 ext 216 or 253.

EMR 110
Mineral resources/conservation: current information is available on conservation measures applicable to the mineral industry and on recommended actions that government, industry, and the public can take to conserve mineral resources. Technology Information Division, CANMET, Research and Technology Sector. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-4029 or 995-4039.

EMR 111
Mineral processing technology: CANMET develops and promotes technology to increase the recovery value of known Canadian mineral deposits. CANMET has developed a computerized data base (MINPROC), which provides references to technical publications and reports on mineral processing technology pertinent to the needs of Canadian industry. Inquiries: concerning MINPROC, QL Systems Limited, Ottawa/Hull (613) 238-3499; technical inquiries, Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-4064.

EC 1
Public and marine weather services: weather warnings, forecasts, and information are available to all Canadians around the clock for periods of up to five days. These services deal with a range of weather conditions, from tropical hurricanes to Arctic blizzards. Forecasts are prepared for major cities and 172 public forecast districts. Warnings are issued for dangerous weather conditions. Marine weather services, consisting of marine weather warnings, forecasts, and information are provided to fishermen and shipping and recreational boaters in 95 different marine areas, including coastal and inland waters and the Arctic. Canada's public and marine forecasts cover a geographical area second in size to the USSR only. Inquiries: Toronto (Downsview) (416) 667-4722.

EC 2
Aviation weather services: weather warnings, forecasts, and observations are provided to 170 airports and 113 aviation areas for air safety and economy of aviation operations, and for the safety of Canadian travellers. Through ICAO international agreements, air weather services also cover an area out to 30°W over the north Atlantic. These services are integrated with those of Transport Canada's Air Transportation Administration (CATA). Inquiries: Toronto (Downsview) (416) 667-4721.

EC 3
Economic weather services: weather information and advice are provided for the safety and efficiency of agriculture, fishing, and forestry operations, and other weather-sensitive economic sectors, and, where applicable, to minimize the possibility of an industrial disaster that could harm the environment. Inquiries: Toronto (Downsview) (416) 667-4729.

EC 4
Military weather services: the Atmospheric Environment Service provides support to the Department of National Defence to meet all the meteorological and oceanographic requirements of the Canadian Armed Forces. It provides services for ground, sea, air, and antisubmarine operations over a geographic area including all Canada, the Arctic, and the adjacent oceans, extending to the mid-Pacific and over the Atlantic almost to Europe. Activities consist of forecast production and delivery, including weather warnings, meteorological and oceanographic support to military operations, support to search and rescue, and advice and consultation. The Atmospheric Environment Service supplies the professional forecast staff and management. Technical support is supplied by DND. The Canadian Forces Weather Service is integrated with AES' civilian weather service. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-4173.

EC 5
Climate applications: the Canadian Climate Centre is responsible for analysis and interpretation of climatic data; for assessment of the impact of climate on national concerns such as agricultural production, industrial design, arctic development and transportation, wind and solar energy, recreation and tourism; and for the provision of information and consultation services to those concerned with policy, planning and design, forest management, and human health. Inquiries: Toronto (Downsview) (416) 667-4624.

EC 6
Climate services: the Canadian Climate Centre makes available climatological data (in the form of publications, statistical abstracts, microfilm, digital data, or custom computer analysis) to the general public and to specialized users, such as engineers, lawyers, and architects. Inquiries: Toronto (Downsview), computer products (416) 667-4953; publications (416) 667-4613.

EC 7
Climate research: the Canadian Climate Centre provides atmospheric circulation statistics and diagnoses, and carries out research on climate modelling, carbon dioxide impacts, climate sensitivity, climatic trends, climatic variability, climate monitoring, general circulation modelling, energy budget studies, radiative-photochemical models, thermodynamic models and statistical long-range prediction. Canadian Climate Centre. Inquiries: Toronto (Downsview) (416) 667-4924.

Hydrometeorological and marine applications of climate information: the Canadian Climate Centre provides products and analyses that are specially tailored to aid in the design and operation of water supply, flood control, and other hydrological structures and systems. Rainfall, snowfall, snowmelt, and evaporation are among the subjects receiving special attention. Advice, consultation, and specialized analyses of a climatological nature concerning the winds and weather over, and sea-state of (as indicated by wave heights, water temperature, and so on) Canadian lakes and ocean areas, are provided to the general public and to the transportation, fishing, hydrocarbon, and marine or coastal engineering industries. Canadian Climate Centre. Inquiries: Toronto (Downsview) (416) 667-4617.

EC 9
Ice conditions: the Ice Centre in Ottawa provides daily analyses of ice conditions in Canada's navigable coastal and contiguous waters and in the Great Lakes – St Lawrence River System, based on aerial reconnaissance flights, imagery from earth-orbiting satellites, commercial and government ships, and other sources. The Ice Centre prepares and distributes composite charts of ice conditions by mail and by radio facsimile to support marine transportation, fishing activities, offshore resource exploration, and so on. It also prepares seasonal outlooks and operational forecasts for short-term and for 30-day periods which are broadcast over marine radio stations and are also accessible by dial-in telex. The Ice Centre also provides telephone information and consultation. Ice Forecasting Centre. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 996-5236.

EC 10
Archived ice data: the Ice Climatology and Applications Division makes available for inspection and analysis ice charts, satellite imagery, ice thickness measurements, and records of remotely sensed data from SLAR, laser profilometer, and cameras. The Division also prepares ice studies and statistical analyses, generates ice atlases, and provides advice and consultation. Considerable international ice data is also available. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-6730.

EC 11
Meteorological and atmospheric research: the Atmospheric Environment Service carries out atmospheric and meteorological research. Its work includes research on LRTAP (Long-Range Transport of Air Pollutants), acid rain, weather, ice, the effect of wind on waves, forecasting systems, the ozone layer, atmospheric radiation, numerical weather prediction (NWP), the physics of clouds and precipitation, weather radar, weather and environmental satellite data reception and processing, atmospheric chemistry, air quality, atmospheric contaminants, man-made pollutants, wind and solar energy, the environmental (atmospheric-related) aspects of northern and offshore hydrocarbon development, agro/forest/aeronautical meteorology, meso-scale/boundary-layer meteorology, and atmospheric dispersion. Inquiries: Toronto (Downsview) (416) 667-4551.

Environmental Conservation Service (EC 12 – EC 23)

Canadian Wildlife Service (EC 12 – EC 15)

EC 12
Endangered species: the Canadian Wildlife Service carries out research and provides management advice on rare and endangered animal species and their habitats. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 997-1095. The Service also issues permits for the import and export of endangered plant and animal species. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 997-1840.

EC 13
Habitat management/ecological assessment: the Canadian Wildlife Service manages habitats to ensure the preservation of wildlife in Canada. It also conducts research and conservation programs and provides research results and advice on the ecology of migratory birds. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 997-1095 or any regional Canadian Wildlife Service office see Part II under cities listed above.

EC 14
Hunting regulations for migratory game birds: the Canadian Wildlife Service sets regulations governing the hunting, handling, and use of migratory game birds. Inquiries: any regional Canadian Wildlife Service office see Part II under cities listed above.

EC 15
Migratory birds/conservation: the Canadian Wildlife Service is responsible for the protection and management of migratory birds. It carries out research and surveys on the distribution, status, population dynamics, and ecological requirements of migratory birds. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 997-2957.

Inland Waters Directorate (EC 16 – EC 19)
Place Vincent Massey
351 Saint-Joseph Boulevard
Hull, Québec
(Mail: Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0E7)

Regional Offices: Vancouver, Regina, Burlington, Québec (Sainte-Foy), Dartmouth.

Information: Ottawa/Hull (819) 997-6555 or 997-2800, or any regional office see Part II under cities listed above.

EC 16
Water management/flood damage reduction: to reduce the potential of federal disaster payments for flood damage, the Inland Waters Directorate has negotiated agreements with the provinces and territories, under which communities are mapped to identify flood risk areas. In addition, the federal government, in co-operation with the provinces, protects existing developments from flooding through the construction of dykes and dams in areas where the benefits of such flood protection exceed the cost and where there is a major national concern.

EC 17
Water management data: the Inland Waters Directorate plans and conducts water management programs, makes hydrological resource assessments, and carries out the systematic collection, compilation, analysis, and distribution of data on water levels, streamflow, sediment, water quality, groundwater, snow and ice, glaciers, and water use for the management of inland waters. This data is used by federal and provincial agencies for flood forecasting and infrastructure design, by industry for power production and navigation, and by agriculture for irrigation.

EC 18
Water management/research: the Inland Waters Directorate undertakes freshwater research and technology development to provide information on and foster understanding of water management decisions concerning hydrology, surface waters, ground waters, snow and ice, aquatic ecosystems, acid rain, and the occurrence and pathways of toxic chemicals. The Directorate also provides funding to non-federal agencies for water-related contracts and grants.

EC 19
Management of international and interjurisdictional waters: in co-operation with the provinces, the Inland Waters Directorate plans and implements measures for the conservation, development, and utilization of water resources in river basins of national interest. Management responsibilities range from direct management of specific basins to the provision of staff, experts, and technical support to over 30 control boards and reference study groups under the authority of the International Joint Commission and more than 10 federal-provincial agreements.

Lands Directorate (EC 20 – EC 23)
Place Vincent Massey, 20th Floor
351 Saint-Joseph Boulevard
Hull, Québec
(Mail: Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0E7)

Regional Offices: Vancouver, Regina Burlington, Québec (Sainte-Foy), Dartmouth.

Information: Ottawa/Hull (819) 997-2010, or any regional office see Part II under cities listed above.

EC 20
Land use policy: the Lands Directorate is responsible for the co-ordination and implementation of the federal policy on land use. It also represents Environment Canada on the Treasury Board Advisory Committee on Federal Land Management, advising on the implementation of the Federal Land Management Principle, and represents the federal government on the Canada Committee on Land Use.

EC 21
Land use research and planning: the Lands Directorate conducts research into major national and regional land problems to inform the public and decision-makers of their causes, solutions, and importance to the nation. It undertakes programs to analyse the loss of agricultural land, the preservation of special resource lands, and federal involvement in the solution of land-use problems. Examples of current initiatives are the analysis of degradation and stress on the land resource, analysis of planning measures and their effectiveness across Canada, analysis of the sustainable development of marginal lands, the rehabilitation of mining sites, and evaluation of the impact of federal programs on the nation's land resource. This program also provides land planning assistance to the Environmental Assessment and Review Process (EARP) and to other Federal departments in resolving their land problems.

EC 22
Publications and maps: the Lands Directorate produces and distributes public information materials, such as the Canada Land Inventory, the LAND newsletter, brochures, books, reports, and maps, that relate to the land and its use from a national perspective. Most maps are available through provincial and federal map offices. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 997-2010.

EC 23
Land inventory monitoring and data systems: the Lands Directorate carries out inventories of land capability, land use, and the ecological characteristics of land, including the Canada Land Inventory (settled Canada), Northern Land Use Information Mapping (North of 60°), Ecological Land Surveys, and the Canada Land Use Monitoring Program (urban regions and prime resource lands). The Canada Committee on Ecological Land Classification co-ordinates federal, provincial, and university research and development activities. The Canada Land Data System provides an extensive digital data base for Canada and can be accessed through regional terminals.

Environmental Protection Service (EC 24 – EC 32)
Place Vincent Massey
351 Saint-Joseph Boulevard
Hull, Québec
(Mail: Ottawa, Ontario K1A 1C8)

Regional Offices: Vancouver, Edmonton, Toronto, Montréal, Dartmouth.

Information: Ottawa/Hull (819) 997-0310 or 997-2800, or any regional office see Part II under cities listed above.

EC 24
Acid rain: the EPS plans, co-ordinates, and manages Environment Canada's acid rain program and provides leadership and co-ordination for the overall federal program. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 997-1831.

EC 25
Commercial chemicals: the EPS assesses new chemicals and the use patterns of existing chemicals in order to develop and implement control strategies for commercial chemicals that, upon entry to the environment, might present an unacceptable level of risk to human health or the environment. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 997-1499.

EC 26
Toxic chemicals management: the EPS plans, co-ordinates, and manages this departmental program to prevent or control entry of harmful quantities of toxic chemicals into the components of the environment – air, water, land, plant and animal life – and into man. The EPS also provides leadership and co-ordination for the overall federal program through the Interdepartmental Committee on Toxic Chemicals. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 997-1831.

EC 27
Water pollution control: EPS works with the provinces to preserve, restore, and enhance the aquatic environment and achieve water quality that is safe for human consumption and suitable for aquatic life. At the Canada Centre for Inland Waters in Burlington, EPS works with Fisheries and Oceans in the areas of pollution, contaminant surveillance, fish and health toxicology. EPS' current focus is the identification, characterization, and control of toxic substances in wastewater discharges. EPS also administers the Ocean Dumping Control Act (by issuing permits to control dumping); controls the phosphorus content of laundry detergents, under the Canada Water Act; approves designs for marine sanitation devices; and develops training programs for treatment plant operators. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 997-3060.

EC 28
Environmental emergencies: EPS stimulates the development and application of spill preparedness and measures to prevent or lessen the impact of environmental emergencies, such as those associated with oil and toxic chemical spills. It maintains the National Alerting and Reporting Network on a 24-hour basis to respond quickly to emergencies, and it supports the improvement of countermeasures. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 997-3742.

EC 29
Technical services: EPS is responsible for promoting the development, demonstration, and transfer of new technology for efficient effluent treatment, residue management, and response to spills of environmentally hazardous materials. Other activities include development and management of a pollution measurement capability for stationary and mobile sources, operation of analytical laboratories, development of technical training packages, and provision of technical advice concerning the protection of environmental quality. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 994-2103.

EC 30
Development and Demonstration of Resource and Energy Conservation Technology (DRECT): this program will contribute up to 50 per cent of the total cost of energy recovery projects. It also supports feasibility studies and the development and analysis of energy recovery proposals and cost-benefit studies. Any business, province, or municipality offering an appropriate proposal may apply. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 997-2057.

EC 31
Socio-economic impact analyses: socio-economic impact analyses of new health, safety, and fairness regulations are conducted by EPS to improve the allocation of economic resources and the information provided to decision-makers, and to allow for increased public participation in the regulation-making process. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 997-2037.

EC 32
Control of threats from human activities: EPS is responsible for ensuring that human activities are conducted in a manner that minimizes adverse impacts on the environment. It maintains centres of expertise on the environmental consequences of human activities in the following sectors: mining, mineral, and metallurgical processes; renewable resources extraction and processing; urban activities; chemical industries; oil, gas, and energy; vehicle emissions and transportation systems; and hazardous waste management. Through inventories, characterization, assessment and socio-economic studies, the EPS identifies current or potential environmental concerns (air pollution, water pollution, waste generation and disposal, or other environmental disturbances) and develops and promotes preventive or remedial measures on a national, interprovincial, and international level. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 994-2494.

Parks Canada (EC 33 – EC 37)

In rare cases, if the Board deems a certain structure to be of exceptional significance, it may recommend to the Minister that the Department provide financial assistance through a cost-sharing agreement with one or more parties, to aid in the builidng's acquisition or restoration.

Export Development Corporation (EDC)

Head Office
151 O'Connor Street
(PO Box 655)
Ottawa, Ontario
K1P 5T9

Regional Offices: Vancouver, Calgary, Toronto, Montréal, Halifax.

Information: Ottawa/Hull (613) 598-2500; regional or other offices see Part II under cities listed above.

EDC is a Crown corporation that provides a wide range of insurance and bank guarantee services to Canadian exporters and arranges credit for foreign buyers in order to facilitate and develop export trade.
Minister responsible:
Minister for International Trade

EDC 1
Financing (medium- and long-term): the EDC will lend up to 85 per cent of the contract price of an export of capital goods and services, provided the buyer is creditworthy, his country is an acceptable risk, and the Canadian content of the export is at least 60 per cent. In addition, EDC is now able to extend credit directly to Canadian exporters who purchase Canadian goods for use or lease outside Canada. Financing services include loans to foreign buyers, allocations under lines of credit with banks or financial institutions that re-lend to buyers, and note purchases. The EDC also provides loan guarantees to banks and financial institutions that lend money to foreign buyers to enable them to make such purchases. In all cases, these services provide exporters with what are, in effect, cash sales. Normally, EDC financing services are available only to support sales of capital goods and services sold on credit terms of two years or more. However, under its note purchase program it can support sales of quasi-capital goods, intermediate goods, and consumer durables.

EDC 2
Guarantees (performance and bid security): the Corporation provides 100 per cent unconditional guarantees to banks that provide performance and bid-related securities in the form of an irrevocable letter of credit issued to a foreign buyer on behalf of a Canadian exporter.

EDC 3
Guarantees (supplier and buyer credit): the Corporation issues 100 per cent unconditional guarantees to banks and other lenders who provide non-recourse financing in respect of an EDC-insured sale of capital goods (supplier credit), or who make loans to buyers of Canadian capital goods and services (buyer credit).

EDC 4
Insurance (assignment of exporter's rights and obligations): the Export Development Corporation normally will agree to pay any proceeds payable under an exporter's policy to a bank or other financial organization in order to facilitate the exporter's banking arrangements. Also, if a bank or other financial institution agrees to purchase an insured foreign receivable from the exporter, EDC is prepared to agree to the assignment of the exporter's rights and obligations under the policy to the bank or financial institution.

EDC 5
Insurance (consortium): Export Development Corporation insurance is available to cover individual members of an exporting consortium against a call on a performance security due to the failure of one or more other members of the consortium to perform.

EDC 6
Insurance (export credit): Export Development Corporation credit insurance is available to cover nonpayment by foreign buyers owing to commercial or political events beyond the control of the seller or buyer (insolvency, default, cancellation of import or export licenses, foreign exchange blockages, and so on). In certain instances, cover only for political or commercial risk can be issued.

EDC 7
Insurance (foreign investment): Export Development Corporation insurance is available to cover Canadian foreign investments against three, broad, political risks - inconvertibility of or the inability to repatriate capital and earnings, expropriation, and war or revolution.

EDC 8
Insurance (performance security): the Export Development Corporation provides cover against a wrongful call by a foreign buyer or a rightful call outside the control of the exporter of an on-demand letter of credit or guarantee issued by the exporter's bank in favour of a foreign buyer.

EDC 9
Insurance (predisbursement): the Export Development Corporation provides protection to Canadian exporters by covering the production period, from the effective date of the commercial contract and loan agreement until disbursement under the loan agreement is made by EDC.

EDC 10
Insurance (surety bonds): Export Development Corporation insurance is available to cover a portion of the risk assumed by a domestic surety company providing a performance bond to a foreign buyer.

Minister responsible:
Minister of Regional Industrial Expansion

FBDB 1
Financial services: the FBDB extends financial assistance to almost every type of new or existing Canadian business that does not have other sources of financing available to it on reasonable terms and conditions. Loans, loan guarantees, interim financing, equity financing, or any combination of these in whatever manner best suits the particular needs of the business, are available. Particular attention is given to smaller organizations. FBDB also provides term loans with interest rates fixed for one to five years, as well as floating-rate loans that can be switched to fixed rates at the borrower's option.

FBDB 2
Investment banking: in co-operation with the private sector, FBDB serves as a catalyst to attract more equity financing from private financial institutions. Although FBDB's financial participation in companies is temporary in nature, it is planned for a period of time sufficient to provide a durable benefit to the company and a return for the Bank that is commensurate with the risk.

FBDB 3
Financial Planning Program: this program offers a series of do-it-yourself financial planning kits, a package service, and an intermediation service to assist small and medium-sized firms in preparing and presenting their business plans.

FBDB 4
CASE (Counselling Assistance to Small Enterprises): FBDB's counselling program, CASE, uses the expertise of retired, successful, business people to assist small firms in improving their methods of doing business. For a nominal fee, experienced counsellors provide advice in all areas of business management, including accounting, marketing, production, and personnel. It is not necessary to be a borrower from FBDB to obtain CASE services. Inquiries: CASE offices see Part II under nearest town or see the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

FBDB 5
Training: to help owners and managers of small Canadian businesses improve their management skills, FBDB conducts management training seminars in towns and cities throughout Canada. These training services include full- and half-day seminars on various business topics, joint seminars organized in co-operation with professional or industrial associations or groups, and owner/manager courses developed by FBDB for the provincial and territorial ministries of education. These courses are offered to the public through the adult education departments of community colleges across Canada. In addition, FBDB also offers management clinics in all of its branches. These clinics are self-teaching, management development tools combining the use of a videotape and workbook. The FBDB also organizes management workshops locally.

FBDB 6
Information: at each FBDB branch, the Small Business Information Service provides up-to-date information for business, including information from Statistics Canada, trade associations, and other public and private sources. FBDB also publishes a pocketbook series entitled Minding Your Own Business, which covers a variety of business-related topics. It issues a quarterly tabloid entitled Profit$, mailed to most businesses in Canada without charge.

Legal deposit: the Library receives from publishers copies of all new Canadian books, periodicals, music scores, sound recordings, and educational kits. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 997-9565.

NLC 7
Manuscripts: collections of correspondence, manuscripts, photographs, and other primary materials relating to the work of writers, as well as of individuals and organizations in publishing, librarianship, and bookselling in Canada, are available. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-3364.

NLC 8
Books in non-official languages: reading material in non-official languages is available on long-term loan to Canadian public libraries through designated provincial deposit centres, to improve services to Canada's ethnocultural communities. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 997-9930.

NLC 9
Theses: microfiches of postgraduate theses completed at Canadian universities are available for purchase, consultation, or interlibrary loan. Bibliographies and lists of Canadian theses are also available. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-9481; to purchase (819) 997-7055.

Reference and bibliographic services (NLC 10 – NLC 15)

NLC 10
Official publications: reference and bibliographic services for a collection of Canadian federal and provincial government publications and a collection of foreign and international publications are available to the public and to libraries. Inquiries: both Canadian and foreign and international official publications, Ottawa/Hull (613) 996-3842.

NLC 11
Canadian studies/reference services: reference, information, consultation, and bibliographic services are provided by telephone, electronic or regular mail, or in person to other libraries and the public for Canadian studies, particularly in the social sciences and humanities. Other aspects of these services include computerized, retrospective literature searches and current-awareness services. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-9481.

NLC 12
Children's literature: the National Library offers consultative, reference, and bibliographic services on children's literature, especially Canadian children's literature. These services include the preparation of bibliographies. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 996-7774.

NLC 13
Music: reference and bibliographic services supporting a collection of musical Canadiana are provided to the public and libraries. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 996-3377.

NLC 14
Newspapers: reference and bibliographic services for a collection of Canadian and foreign newspapers, many of which are in microform, are provided to the public and libraries. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 996-1338.

NLC 15
Service for handicapped persons: the National Library offers reference, information, and consultation on library services provided across Canada for the disabled and handicapped. It also provides a union catalogue of library materials for the visually and physically disabled. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 992-7811.

Interlibrary services (NLC 16 – NLC 20)

NLC 16
Interlibrary loan: this service provides books and other library materials to the public through local libraries, as well as information on where these materials may be found. Inquiries from libraries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 996-3566.

NLC 17
Lending and document delivery: National Library collections are available through interlibrary loan, and at the National Library for researchers eligible to use the collections on the premises. Various document delivery services are used to ensure prompt receipt of interlibrary loan items. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 996-3260.

NLC 18
DOBIS Search Service: the National Library makes available to libraries across Canada its on-line data base, DOBIS, in order to supplement and improve local services. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 997-7000.

NLC 19
Library Documentation Centre: the Centre provides services to libraries, librarians, and the public in the field of library and information sciences, and provides information about libraries in Canada. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-8717.

NLC 20
Canadian Book Exchange Centre: the Centre accepts unwanted materials from federal government and other libraries and redistributes them to libraries that need them. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-2317.

Cataloguing services (NLC 21 – NLC 22)

NLC 21
Cataloguing in publication: designated libraries across Canada provide Canadian publishers with pre-publication cataloguing records to be printed in their forthcoming books. The information is distributed promptly to libraries and booksellers through the "Forthcoming Books" insert to Quill & Quire and in Livre d'ici. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 994-6881.

NLC 22
ISBN and ISSN: standard identification numbers are assigned to books (ISBN) and serial publications (ISSN) published in Canada. ISBN numbers for federal publications are assigned by the Canadian Government Publishing Centre see SSC 10 under Supply and Services Canada. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull, ISSN (819) 994-6895; ISBN (819) 994-6872.

Library facilities, cultural activities, research, publications (NLC 23 – NLC 28)

NLC 23
Conference and auditorium facilities: the National Library and Public Archives conference facilities are available for public use. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-8665.

NLC 24
Group visits: group tours of the National Library can be arranged in advance throughout the year. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 993-6618.

NLC 25
Exhibits: regular exhibits from National Library collections are presented at the Library. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 993-6618 and 993-6657.

NLC 26
Cultural events: the National Library runs a cultural events program throughout the year, to make Canada's literary and musical heritage known and to support Canadian studies. The program consists of exhibitions, authors' readings, lectures, musical events, and films. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 993-6618 or 993-6657.

NLC 27
Network development: the National Library facilitates the development of a decentralized, electronic Canadian library and information network through research in computer and telecommunications technology; development of library applications of these technologies; design and co-ordination of pilot projects to test applications developed; and provision of network co-ordination and liaison. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 996-7386.

NLC 28
National Library/Publications: the Publications Section produces a variety of documents to publicize the services, products, activities and collections of the National Library (bibliographies, brochures, exhibition catalogues, monographs, and periodicals). Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-7969.

Federal libraries (NLC 29)

NLC 29
The Federal Libraries Liaison Office provides a link to all federal department libraries. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 997-9780.

National Museums of Canada (NMC)

Head Office
L'Esplanade Laurier
West Tower, 21st Floor
300 Laurier Avenue West
Ottawa, Ontario
K1A 0M8

Information: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-9832.

The National Museums of Canada aims to demonstrate the products of nature and the works of man, with special but not exclusive reference to Canada. Its policy supports activities that increase public access to the collections of Canadian museums and art galleries, and that lead to greater preservation of those collections. The NMC comprises, in a single administration, Canada's four national museums in the capital and a series of national programs that serve the Canadian public both directly and through hundreds of museums and related institutions across the country.
Minister responsible:
Minister of Communications

The museums (NMC 1 – NMC 4)

NMC 1
National Gallery of Canada: the National Gallery's permanent collection numbers more than 40 000 works of art, including the most important collection of Canadian art in the world. It also includes a collection of 15 500 photographs. The Gallery exhibits a constantly changing selection of paintings, sculptures, prints, drawings, films, video works, and photographs from its collection. It shows important exhibitions from other countries and circulates its own exhibitions throughout Canada and abroad. For its visitors the Gallery's Education Division maintains a varied program of lectures, films, and guided tours; the Publications Division produces a wide range of publications. The Canadian Museum of Contemporary Photography, formerly the Still Photography Division of the National Film Board, was founded and affiliated with the National Gallery of Canada in January 1985. Inquiries: National Gallery of Canada, Elgin and Albert Streets, Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0M8 (613) 990-1985; Canadian Museum of Contemporary Photography, Personnel Records Centre, Goldenrod Avenue, Tunney's Pasture, Ottawa, Ontario, K1A 0M8 (613) 990-8259.

NMC 2
The National Museum of Man conducts research, collects and preserves artifacts, and disseminates information in the fields of Canadian archeology, ethnology, folk culture, and social and military history. It issues scholarly and popular publications, organizes and sustains travelling exhibitions as well as permanent displays, produces educational resource materials in various media, and provides regional and visitor programs in its two display facilities. The Canadian War Museum is a division of the National Museum of Man. Inquiries: Victoria Memorial Museum Building, Metcalfe and McLeod Streets, Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0M8 (613) 992-3497; Canadian War Museum, 330 Sussex Drive, Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0M8 (613) 992-2774.

NMC 3
The National Museum of Natural Sciences maintains collections and conducts research in the fields of botany, zoology, mineral sciences, and paleobiology. Its natural history displays are presented in seven, permanent halls as well as in temporary and travelling exhibitions. Knowledge derived from the Museum's research and collections is made available through a variety of popular and scientific publications, educational programs, loans of specimens, films, workshops, conferences, and nature excursions. Inquiries: Victoria Memorial Museum Building, Metcalfe and McLeod Streets, Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0M8 (613) 996-3102.

NMC 4
The National Museum of Science and Technology collects and exhibits artifacts illustrating the discoveries of modern science and the developments of technology. Its collections are in the fields of general, industrial, agricultural, and communications technology; astronomy; printing; and aviation. The Museum's activities include permanent and temporary exhibitions, loans, air shows, and educational programs. The Museum's steam train carries passengers from Ottawa to Wakefield (Qué) and back during the months of July and August. For further information and tickets see NCC 19 under the National Capital Commission. The National Aviation Museum, containing more than 100 aircraft, is part of the National Museum of Science and Technology.
Together with Agriculture Canada, the NMST opened a new Agriculture Museum in October 1983 in the loft of the historic dairy barn at the Central Experimental Farm in Ottawa. The Museum features two permanent exhibitions, Haying in Canada and An Ontario Barn in the 1920s, assembled with restored artifacts from the NMST's National Agricultural Collection. Inquiries: 1867 St Laurent Boulevard, Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0M8 (613) 998-4566; National Aviation Museum, Rockcliffe Air Base, Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0M8 (613) 993-2010; Agriculture Museum, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0M8 (613) 998-4566.

National programs (NMC 5 – NMC 9)

NMC 5
Canadian Conservation Institute (CCI): the CCI provides specialized conservation services, research, training, and information to protect heritage treasures in public collections. Its mobile laboratories visit museums in all parts of the country. Inquiries: 1030 Innes Road, Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0M8 (613) 998-3721.

NMC 6
Canadian Heritage Information Network (CHIN): this program assists museums in the development of automated and manual systems for the preservation and management of information about their collections, and provides a computerized mechanism for the sharing of that information. Over 150 institutions participate in the program, and the Network now contains data on more than two million objects. Inquiries: Journal Tower South, 12th Floor, 365 Laurier Avenue West, Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0M8 (613) 992-3333.

NMC 7
International Program: the International Program facilitates international exchanges of exhibitions to and from Canada and fosters interest in international museum activities. Inquiries: L'Esplanade Laurier, West Tower, 22nd Floor, 300 Laurier Avenue West, Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0M8 (613) 995-2943.

NMC 8
Mobile Exhibits Program: the NMC's museumobiles travel to smaller communities in Canada that lack ready access to major museums. Their exhibits of artifacts and other illustrative materials depict the geographical, archeological, natural, and social history of various regions of the country. Inquiries: 2785 Riverside Drive, 3rd Floor, Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0M8 (613) 998-3633.

NMC 9
Museum Assistance Programs (MAP): these programs provide financial and technical assistance to qualifying public museums, art galleries, and other related institutions, to increase access to Canada's cultural heritage and to ensure the preservation of that heritage. Inquiries: 219 Argyle Avenue, 4th Floor, Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0M8 (613) 996-8504.

Publications (NMC 10)

NMC 10
Publications: information on priced publications may be obtained from the NMC by writing or phoning Marketing Services, National Museums of Canada, Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0M8 (613) 990-1447. In addition, all four national museums produce a wide variety of free material that may be ordered directly from the individual museums.

National Parole Board (NPB)

Headquarters
Sir Wilfrid Laurier Building
340 Laurier Avenue West
Ottawa, Ontario
K1A 0R1

Regional Offices: Vancouver (Burnaby), Saskatoon, Kingston, Montréal, Moncton.

Information: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-1308; regional offices see Part II under cities listed above.

The National Parole Board is responsible for granting, denying, or revoking parole for inmates of all federal institutions and inmates of provincial institutions in the Prairie and Atlantic provinces. It may also revoke mandatory supervision of federal inmates. The Board's work includes establishing eligibility criteria for conditional release, conditions of release, implementation of procedural safeguards, pardon recommendations, and communication and consultation with other components of the criminal justice system.
Minister responsible:
Solicitor General of Canada

NPB 1
Parole: the Board has absolute discretion to grant, refuse, or revoke parole for inmates in federal institutions and in the provincial insitutions in the seven provinces and two territories that have not established their own paroling authority.

NPB 2
Day parole: day parole is a limited form of parole designed to help inmates re-enter society on a gradual basis by enabling them to participate in treatment programs, take additional training, or seek employment.

NPB 3
Temporary absences: the Board has authority over the granting of all unescorted temporary absences to inmates of federal institutions for medical or humanitarian reasons.

NPB 4
Review of Parole Board decisions: the Appeal Committee carries out internal re-examination of Parole Board decisions, if requested to do so by an inmate, when parole has been denied or revoked, or when mandatory supervision has been revoked.

NPB 5
Pardon/federal offences: pardon may be granted under the Criminal Records Act to assist people who have been found guilty of a criminal offence and who, having satisfied the sentence imposed, have subsequently shown that they are law-abiding citizens. The Clemency and Pardons Section of the Board conducts the investigation required for each case, after which the Board submits a recommendation to the Solicitor General on whether a pardon should be granted.

NPB 6
Mandatory supervision : Canadian law provides inmates in federal penitentiaries the right to serve the last third of a sentence in the community, under mandatory supervision.

National Research Council Canada (NRC)

Head Office
Montréal Road
Ottawa, Ontario
K1A 0R6

Other offices: see below under individual programs.

Information: Ottawa/Hull (613) 993-9101.

The National Research Council carries out a wide spectrum of basic and applied research, undertakes studies on topics of long-term national concern, provides laboratory support in a number of areas of technology important to Canadian industry, manages industrial development programs, runs major national facilities for the Canadian scientific community, and provides a national network for scientific and technical information.
Minister responsible:
Minister of State for Science and Technology

Science and technology/research and development (NRC 1 – NRC 9)

NRC 1
Chemistry: research and development activities focus on materials, processes, methods, devices, and techniques that relate to the present and projected scientific and technological needs of the country. By developing and maintaining expertise, equipment, and facilities in major areas, the Division of Chemistry is helping industry find solutions to some of its current problems. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 993-2330.

NRC 2
Physics: the Council is responsible for research into selected areas of physics; for the maintenance of Canada's reference measurement standards (for example: time, length, mass, temperature); for the calibration of measuring instruments for industry, hospitals, government, and universities; for designs for industrial products; and for giving scientific advice to government and universities. The Division of Physics also provides the exact time of day to the public. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull, general (613) 993-1208; exact time of day (in English) (613) 745-1576 or (in French) (613) 745-9426.

NRC 3
Biological sciences: burgeoning interest in biotechnology has given rise to increased collaboration with industry, and the Division (a component in the national network of biotechnology research) is currently working with many firms to further technology transfer in biological research areas. Its work includes molecular genetics and genetic engineering, molecular biophysics and biochemistry, microbiology and immunochemistry, animal and cell physiology, and the study of novel fermentations. Division of Biological Sciences. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 990-0884.

National Research Council Canada (continued)

NRC 4
Microstructural sciences: this new division is concerned with microelectronics and parallel technologies, such as microphotonics and micromechanics. Division of Microstructural Sciences. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 993-1053.

NRC 5
Biomedical engineering: the Council conducts research in cardiovascular studies and ultrasonics as well as on aids to the handicapped, standards of rehabilitation, and rehabilitation technology. Division of Electrical Engineering. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 993-0330.

NRC 6
Computer technology: the Council carries out research in the development and application of computer technology (graphic display, pattern recognition, transportation and traffic control, cardiac studies, computer video graphics, modelling, numerical control, and seismic signal processing). Division of Electrical Engineering. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 993-0261.

NRC 7
Electrical engineering: the Division of Electrical Engineering conducts basic and applied research in the fields of electrical and electronics engineering, with major applications in the areas of industrial technology, energy, and health. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 993-1384.

NRC 8
Mechanical engineering: research and development activities cover thermodynamics, applied mechanics, and hydrodynamics. The Division of Mechanical Engineering works closely with Canadian industry addressing problems of both long- and short-term concern. Close to half the research effort is related to transportation problems often unique to Canada. The development and application of technology to increase industrial productivity is another major program concentration. Vital to all application areas is an ongoing accumulation of basic engineering data and expertise as well as the operation of several national facilities for engineering research and development. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 993-2424 or Vancouver (604) 732-4477.

NRC 9
Buildings: the Division of Building Research carries out studies to develop the technology needed for the design, construction and use of buildings in a cold climate. Research on the properties of materials, building design, energy efficiency, climatic loads, and geotechnical areas is particularly important in preventing problems such as deterioration, condensation, air leakage, and structural instability. Other studies are carried out on fire safety design, sound insulation and acoustics, air quality, building systems and services, and the economics of construction and rehabilitation. The Council also provides technical support for the National Building Code for Canada, the National Fire Code for Canada, the Measures for Energy Conservation in New Buildings, Building Standards for the Handicapped, Residential Standards, and the Canadian Plumbing Code. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 993-9960; other offices see Part II under Revelstoke, Vancouver, Saskatoon, and Halifax.

Research institutes and laboratories (NRC 10 – NRC 21)

NRC 10
The Herzberg Institute of Astrophysics operates and maintains astronomical observatories as national facilities available to all interested scientists. It also conducts its own research programs in the fields of astronomy, space science, and laboratory astrophysics, and is engaged in the development of new techniques and instruments for collecting and assessing observational data. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 996-1455 (solar) or 821-2480 (meteor); other offices see Part II under Penticton, Victoria, Saskatoon, and Lake Traverse.

NRC 11
Plant Biotechnology Institute (formerly the Prairie Regional Laboratory): the Institute is a key component in the national network of biotechnology research facilities. It carries out research in plant-related industrial, forest, and agricultural biotechnology. Inquiries: Saskatoon (306) 975-4191.

NRC 12
Biotechnology Research Institute (to be completed in 1986), Montréal: research will focus on those areas of biotechnology most important to industry and the economy, that is, animal diagnostic chemicals and vaccines, bacterial ore leaching, pest control, nitrogen fixation, and genetic engineering. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 993-1200.

NRC 13
Industrial Materials Research Institute: concerned primarily with metals, polymers, ceramics, and composites, the Institute aims to increase productivity and to improve the performance and durability of materials with industrial applications. Inquiries: Montréal (514) 641-2280.

NRC 14
Institute for Marine Dynamics, St John's: research includes investigation of problems such as oil-drilling and navigation in ice-infested waters, development of icebreaking techniques, and the design of ships adapted to ice conditions. Researchers use computers to analyse navigation conditions in ice-covered waters, computerized machine tools to build scale models of large ships, and large tanks to accommodate realistic tests on such models. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 993-2265; St John's (709) 772-2472 or 772-2479.

NRC 15
The National Aeronautical Establishment pursues research and development objectives in support of the Canadian aerospace community. Its laboratories include the Low Speed, High Speed and Unsteady Aerodynamics, Structures and Materials, and Flight Research laboratories, as well as two special project offices participating in public safety and space technology programs. These groups focus on matters of aeronautical and aerospace concern, as well as on programs relating to law enforcement assistance, health, safety, and industrial aerodynamics.
Under a co-operative agreement between the US National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the NRC, a Canadian industrial team led by NAE engineers built the Canadarm, Canada's contribution to the space shuttle program.
The NAE has major test facilities to support its own research. These are also available to outside agencies on a commercial or collaborative basis. The facilities direct efforts toward the development of advanced testing techniques and equipment. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 993-0141.

NRC 16
Canada Centre for Space Science: the Centre provides opportunities for Canadian scientists to participate in high-quality national and international space programs. Canadian space industries can therefore participate in the development of state-of- the-art space technology. Technology transfer from the scientists in the program to industry is a major facet of the program.
The Centre is now developing major new space science instruments in co-operation with agencies in Sweden, France, Japan, and the United States. Some of these instruments will fly with SPACELAB, the European Space Agency contribution to the NASA Space Shuttle program; others will fly in orbiting satellites. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 990-0928.

NRC 17
Canadian Astronaut Program: Canada has six astronauts, one of whom, Marc Garneau, flew on the NASA space mission, 24 October 1984, becoming the first Canadian in space. Robert Brent Thirsk was the back-up astronaut. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 993-4485.

NRC 18
TRIUMF: NRC's national Tri-University Meson Facility is concerned with intermediate energy nuclear science. Inquiries: Vancouver (604) 228-4711 or Ottawa/Hull (613) 993-1000.

NRC 19
Western Laboratory: research and development are carried out in the areas of tribology (friction, wear, and lubrication); computer-aided, manufacturing microprocessors; and small-scale technologies. Inquiries: Vancouver (604) 732-4477.

NRC 20
Atlantic Research Laboratory: the Laboratory performs research and development mainly in marine sciences and on industrial materials and processes relevant to the economy of the Atlantic provinces. The marine-related research includes studies of the biology, biotechnology, and chemistry of organisms, particularly marine plants, and the development of marine analytical chemistry methodologies and standards. Research and development on materials and processes focus on the high-temperature metallurgical chemistry of steelmaking, the removal of sulphur from Atlantic coals, and on the development and use of specialized ceramics in industrial processes. Other research includes studies of the ecology and physiology of fungi, with emphasis on understanding the causes of growth retardation in sheep. Inquiries: Halifax (902) 426-8070.

NRC 21
The Canada Institute for Scientific and Technical Information (CISTI) contains Canada's most comprehensive source of technical information in Canada. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 993-1600, 993-2441, or 993-2528.

Industrial research assistance (NRC 22 – NRC 24)

NRC 22
Industrial Research Assistance Program (IRAP): the Council provides financial assistance for approved industrial research projects in Canada. It will defray the salaries of researchers involved in approved projects. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 993-2012; field offices see Part II under Vancouver, Calgary, Regina, Saskatoon, Winnipeg, Windsor, London, Waterloo, Hamilton, Mississauga, Toronto (Don Mills), Montréal, Québec, Rimouski, Chicoutimi, Moncton, Fredericton, Saint John, Dartmouth, Wolfville, Charlottetown, and St John's.

NRC 23
Program for Industry/Laboratory Projects (PILP): this program transfers to industry the results of research done in all federal government laboratories. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 993-1790.

NRC 24
Technical assistance: NRC provides industrial troubleshooting assistance to industries in Canada that lack sophisticated technical resources, particularly small- and medium-sized firms. A sound basis for technology transfer is provided by staff possessing long experience in this activity and who maintain close liaison with client firms. In addition, the Science and Engineering Student Program (SESP) provides assistance to firms seeking solutions to short-term scientific, engineering, and technological problems, through the work of in-plant university or technical college students who are supervised by professional personnel. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (613) 993-3431; field offices see Part II under Vancouver, Calgary, Regina, Saskatoon, Winnipeg, Windsor, London, Waterloo, Hamilton, Mississauga, Toronto (Don Mills and Scarborough), Montréal, Québec, Rimouski, Chicoutimi, Moncton, Fredericton, Saint John, Dartmouth, Wolfville, Charlottetown, and St John's.

Minister responsible:

NSERC 1
The Natural Sciences and Engineering Research Council is a federal agency that supports advanced research and development in the natural sciences and engineering at Canadian universities and encourages collaboration between the academic and industrial sectors. In 1984-85, the Council invested $311.6 million in university research and researcher training.

Northern Canada Power Commission (NCPC)

Head Office
7909 51st Avenue
(PO Box 5700, Station L)
Edmonton, Alberta
T6C 4J8

Regional Offices: Whitehorse, Yellowknife, Frobisher Bay.

Information: Edmonton (403) 465-3377; regional offices see Part II under Whitehorse, Yellowknife, and Frobisher Bay.

The Northern Canada Power Commission is a federal Crown corporation that operates under the authority of the Northern Canada Power Commission Act. It is concerned with the planning, construction, and management of public utilities, primarily electrical, on a commercial basis.
Minister responsible:
Minister of Indian and Northern Affairs

NCPC 1
Public utilities/planning and construction: the Commission is empowered to survey utility requirements and construct utility plants in the Northwest Territories, Yukon Territory and, subject to the approval of the Governor in Council, elsewhere in Canada.

NCPC 2
Public utilities/operation: the Commission is the principal producer of electricity north of 60 degrees. It operates the main transmission networks in Yukon and the Northwest Territories. It also runs heat, water, and sewerage service utilities at Inuvik, and provides wholesale heat supply to the Northwest Territories government for distribution at Frobisher Bay. Residual heat recovery systems are operated at several locations. It also provides power to the residents of Field, British Columbia.

The main concerns of the PFRA are soil and water conservation and development, and land use adjustment in the Prairie provinces.
Minister responsible:

PFRA 1
Soil and water conservation: the Soil and Water Conservation Branch operates irrigation projects, 88 community pastures, an irrigation demonstration farm, and a tree nursery facility. It also provides technical and financial assistance for water development for individuals, groups, and small communities and provides a soil conservation planning service. The community pastures maintained throughout the three Prairie provinces provide grazing for cattle and the use of breeding bulls on a cost-recovery basis. In southwest Saskatchewan the Branch operates 23 water-storage projects and six irrigation projects, which permit the growth of forage crops for livestock in the local dryland farming area. The Rural Water Development Program provides technical and financial assistance for on-farm, group and small community wells, dugouts, dams, reservoirs, and pipelines. The Demonstration Farm at Outlook (Sask) provides information on irrigation techniques, irrigated crops, and fertilizer use, for the South Saskatchewan River Irrigation Project. The Tree Nursery provides tree and shrub seedlings for field, farmstead, and roadside shelterbelts. Inquiries: nearest district or local Soil and Water Conservation office see Part II.

PFRA 2
Engineering services: the Engineering Branch provides for the planning, investigation, and evaluation of development opportunities, and the design, construction, and maintenance of various works involving water development, irrigation, and water infrastucture programs in the three Prairie provinces. Specialized activities include the areas of hydrology and geology, and include air photo interpretation, geotechnical services, hydraulic and structural design, and dam construction and safety evaluation. Inquiries: head office, regional and district Engineering offices, or the Geotechnical Division office see Part II under cities listed above.

PFRA 3
Policy and analysis: the Policy and Analysis Branch provides evaluation and performance measurement services for PFRA programs and policies; conducts environmental, social, and economic studies; operates an information program; and implements the Canada – Saskatchewan Interim Subsidiary Agreement on Water for Regional Economic Expansion and Drought Proofing. This program involves drought studies, water management strategies, and water supply project construction. Inquiries: Regina (306) 780-5070.

PFRA 4
Manitoba Affairs: this branch implements the Canada – Manitoba Interim Subsidiary Agreement on Water for Regional Economic Expansion and Drought Proofing, and represents all aspects of PFRA's activities in Manitoba to public, provincial, and municipal officials, and to the federal government in Manitoba. Regional Offices: Vancouver, Edmonton, Toronto (Willowdale), Ottawa, Montréal, Halifax.

Field Offices: throughout Canada.

Information: Ottawa/Hull (613) 998-9560; regional offices see Part II under cities listed above; field offices see Part II under nearest town; research office and general information see the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16; Canada Lands Company see PWC 3 below; Harbourfront Corporation see PWC 4 below.

The Department is responsible for the management of the public works of Canada and the federal real estate properties.
Minister responsible:
Minister of Public Works

PWC 1
Accommodation: Public Works provides accommodation to government departments and agencies through new construction, leasing, lease-purchase, and use of existing Crown-owned buildings. It also ensures optimal use of this space. Realty Management Services includes Property Management, Operational and Technical Services, and Accommodation Services. Property Management involves the planning and budgeting of operation and maintenance programs for client departments, including Canada Post Corporation. It also includes the implementation and control of building operation and maintenance work, done both in-house and by contract; tenant liaison; and lease administration. Special programs are Facilities for the Handicapped, Federal Building Identity, and Asbestos Abatement. Operational and Technical Services includes mechanical, electrical, and architectural operation and maintenance, building services, and energy management. Accommodation Services provides for the leasing of accommodation from the private sector, and for the letting of accommodation to federal departments and agencies and to the private sector. It is also responsible for the Facilities Inventory System, accommodation utilization surveys, and the administration of pool housing, cafeterias, parking, and conference facilities. Inquiries: plans and specifications for regionally tendered jobs are available at each regional office see Part II under cities listed above.

PWC 2
Federal real estate services: the Department is responsible for the management and maintenance of federal real property (land and any building or other structure) and makes available a complete realty service by acquiring, appraising, surveying, developing real property, and providing an investment analysis system. It provides advice on the management of federal lands supervised by the corporations reporting to the Minister of Public Works. PWC is also concerned with expropriation and the disposal of buildings and land. It administers the Expropriation Act and maintains the Central Real Property Inventory (a computerized central record of the real property owned or leased on behalf of federal departments and agencies). The Department also administers the federal legislation providing for grants in lieu of property taxes on federal properties in municipalities across Canada.

PWC 3
The Canada Lands Company is a corporate structure under which subsidiary Crown corporations have been established and assigned management and development responsibilities for the properties involved, under agreement with the Minister of Public Works. The subsidiaries are the Canada Lands Company (Vieux-Port de Montréal) Limited, which has a mandate to implement a plan to revitalize and manage lands owned by the Crown in Montréal in the area between Amherst Street and the Bonaventure Highway at the south of Commune Street, including the Cité du Havre; the Canada Lands Company (Vieux-Port de Québec) Limited, whose mandate is to implement a development framework for the revitalization of about 29 hectares of land and water lots in Québec City; the Canada Lands Company (Mirabel) Limited, whose mandate is to administer the Mirabel Peripheral Lands and to prepare and execute a plan for disposal of lands no longer required for protection of the airport. Inquiries: Montréal (514) 283-5256, Québec (418) 694-5534, Mirabel (514) 258-2451.

PWC 4
Harbourfront Corporation: this Crown corporation, which reports directly to the Minister of Public Works, is responsible for operating, managing, maintaining, and developing a 37-hectare site bordering Lake Ontario in Toronto. Inquiries: Toronto (416) 364-7127.

PWC 5
Master Specifications Secretariat: the Secretariat serves the needs of public and private sectors on matters pertaining to the National Master Specification (NMS). The NMS is not a standard specification; it contains most of the specifications required for buildings and marine and heavy civil engineering works. The NMS is stored on a computer, and must be edited by the designer to suit individual project requirements. The Secretariat's services include the development, maintenance, and update of the NMS; provision of computer tapes on the NMS to private-sector word processing firms; provision of advice, assistance, and training courses on NMS usage; and production of reports, schedules, manuals, and the Addenda newsletter.

PWC 6
Documentation Centre: the Department prepares standards, guidelines, and similar technical documents for the use of architects, engineers, and staff in the design and construction of buildings and in marine, road, and bridge works. These documents are stocked by the Documentation Centre and may be furnished to other departments and to the public upon request.

PWC 7
Marine Program: the Department provides for the construction, improvement, maintenance, and operation of PWC dry docks, locks, and dams. It offers design and construction services for the planning, establishment, and maintenance of marine facilities, including harbours, wharves and breakwaters, which are required for federal programs carried out by Fisheries and Oceans, Transport Canada, and other government departments and agencies. Services for dredging by Department-owned dredges as well as by contractors are also offered. The Department also provides water level control for the support of industry.

PWC 8
Transportation: the Department is responsible for the construction and maintenance of roads and bridges that come under the exclusive jurisdiction of the federal government, the most notable being the Northwest and Yukon Highway Systems. It is also responsible for the construction of the Trans-Canada Highway through national parks, as well as for the federal government's share of the responsibility for the administration, design, construction, and maintenance of international, interprovincial, and extraprovincial bridges and tunnels. As part of the Services Program, the transportation group provides for supervision of road and bridge construction programmed by other government departments, such as the construction of national parks roads and development roads in Yukon and the Northwest Territories.

PWC 9
Fire Commissioner of Canada: the Fire Commissioner is responsible for the fire protection of government of Canada owned and leased properties, excluding National Defence bases and government ships. Types of properties regulated include office buildings administered by Public Works Canada, federal penitentiaries, airport terminals, national parks, and the properties of Crown corporations such as Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd, Canada Post Corporation, and the Royal Canadian Mint. The Office of the Fire Commissioner of Canada provides a number of protection services, including review and approval of building design and construction, fire protection inspections, training and education programs, fire investigation, and the compilation and publication of fire loss statistics.

PWC 10
Emergency preparedness: the Department is responsible for the control and regulation of engineering and construction resources in a national emergency, and for plans and arrangements for protection of the population against the wartime effects of radioactive fallout and other weapon effects. It is also responsible for the provision and maintenance of emergency operations centres for the Continuity of Government Program and for timely emergency response during peacetime and wartime emergencies.

Department of Regional Industrial Expansion (DRIE)

Head Office
C D Howe Building
235 Queen Street
Ottawa, Ontario
K1A 0H5

Regional Offices: Whitehorse, Yellowknife, Vancouver, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Winnipeg, Toronto, Montréal, Moncton, Halifax, Charlottetown, St John's.

Local Offices: throughout Canada.

Information: Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-8900; regional offices see Part II under cities listed above; local offices see Part II under nearest city; for Tourism Canada see DRIE 27 – DRIE 28 below.

DRIE's basic mandate is to increase economic prosperity by promoting productive investments in industrial development and renewal in all regions of Canada and in particular in the economically less-privileged parts of the country. It encourages investment in viable industrial undertakings in manufacturing, resource processing and related service industries, tourism, and small business.
Minister responsible:
Minister of Regional Industrial Expansion

Industrial and regional development (DRIE 1 – DRIE 12)

DRIE 1
Industrial and Regional Development Program (IRDP): under this program, direct financial assistance, in the form of grants, contributions, and repayable contributions, is available to manufacturers and processors across Canada for the development of new products or processes that will increase industrial productivity and international competitiveness; for the establishment of new production facilities in regions with relatively high economic disparity; for modernization and expansion, including first-time installation of microelectronic devices; for marketing research and strategy studies; and for investments made to adjust to changing competitive conditions or to produce new, more viable, or more competitive products or services. The amount of assistance that firms may be eligible for varies according to the economic development needs of the region. DRIE administers the program through its regional offices, paying particular attention to the needs of small and medium-sized businesses. Inquiries: any regional office see Part II under cities listed above or nearest local office see Part II.

DRIE 2
Regional development/federal-provincial agreements: development and employment opportunities are identified and exploited jointly on a regional and national basis through cost-shared federal-provincial Economic and Regional Development Agreement (ERDA) sub-agreements. Individuals may apply under some of these programs, which vary from province to province. Inquiries: any regional office see Part II under cities listed above or nearest local office see Part II.

DRIE 3
Small business loans: small business enterprises in Canada whose gross revenues do not exceed $2 million per year in the year of application may receive guaranteed loans from chartered banks and other lenders to purchase fixed or moveable equipment, to purchase or build premises; to modernize existing facilities; or to purchase land for the operation of a business. The total of loans outstanding to any one enterprise must not exceed $100 000. Loans must be secured and may be payable over a 10-year period. The maximum interest rate that can be charged on these loans is the bank prime rate plus one per cent, the rate floating with the bank's prime during the term of the loan. Small Business Loans Administration. Inquiries: any regional office see Part II under cities listed above or nearest local office see Part II.

DRIE 4
Economic development agreements/native peoples: cost-shared, Special ARDA (Agricultural and Rural Development Act) Agreements have been signed jointly by DRIE and provincial agencies in British Columbia, Saskatchewan, and Manitoba and by the governments of Yukon and the Northwest Territories to help northern residents of native ancestry improve their economic circumstances. The agreements provide financial assistance for the capital costs of new or expanding business enterprises operated by or employing people of native ancestry, and to groups of primary producers engaged in hunting, trapping, fishing, and forestry. They also provide assistance with the development of project plans and the completion of applications, with management and other training required in order for native people to take advantage of economic and employment opportunities opened up by the agreements, and with counselling and other social adjustment measures. Inquiries: Saskatoon (306) 975-4325.

DRIE 5
Native Economic Development Program: DRIE co-ordinates federal government efforts concerning aboriginal economic development, and administers a $345-million fund toward that end. Inquiries: Winnipeg (204) 949-7316; Ottawa/Hull (613) 995-2494.

Information: any district taxation office see Part II under provincial capitals and other cities listed above or the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

Revenue Canada, Taxation administers the government's tax policy, which is initiated by the Department of Finance. It assesses and collects individual and corporate income taxes under the Income Tax Act of Canada. Individual income tax is collected for all provinces except Québec, and corporate tax is collected for all provinces except Québec, Ontario, and Alberta. The Department also collects Canada Pension Plan contributions and unemployment insurance premiums.
Minister responsible:
Minister of National Revenue

Income tax collection (RCT 1 – RCT 5)

RCT 1
Income tax returns: Revenue Canada Taxation mails personalized Federal and Provincial Individual Income Tax Returns (T1 forms) automatically to previous filers, who receive either the T1 General or the T1 Special, according to the information reported in their previous year's return. The T1 Special is available in the personalized format only, and is sent to taxpayers whose tax affairs appear uncomplicated. The T1 General is available in a non-personalized format from district taxation offices and post offices for taxpayers who have never filed a tax return, did not file a return for the previous year, can no longer use the T1 Special because of a change in their tax affairs, or have lost or did not receive their personalized T1 General or T1 Special.

RCT 2
Source deductions: most taxpayers pay their income tax through deductions from their pay cheques. Their employers remit these funds to Revenue Canada, Taxation each month, either through their banks or directly to the taxation centre. The Department records all employer deductions on computer files.

RCT 3
Instalment payments: taxpayers must pay their income tax in instalments unless tax is deducted at source from at least three-quarters of their net income, or their net federal tax payable for the current or preceding year does not exceed $1000. An Instalment Guide for Individuals and Instalment Guide for Farmers and Fishermen are available from all district taxation offices.

RCT 4
Non-residents: with a few exceptions, individuals who are not resident in Canada must pay tax on certain income from Canadian sources, including interest, dividends, management fees, income from estates and trusts, rents, royalties, alimony, pensions, and annuities. This tax is referred to as withholding tax, since the organization or individual making the payment to Revenue Canada, Taxation is required to withhold the tax at source. The statutory rate of withholding tax is 25 per cent unless otherwise stated in a provision of the Income Tax Act or one of the many tax treaties concluded with foreign countries to prevent double taxation.

RCT 5
Collection of tax arrears: in fairness to the majority of taxpayers who pay their taxes by the due date, the Department takes a firm approach in dealing with those who do not. It sends delinquent remitters letters to remind them of their debt and to request payment. If no response is received, it issues a demand for payment along with a written notice that describes the taxpayer's legal rights and provides information about contacting the Department to discuss the taxpayer's particular circumstances. If neither payment nor a mutually satisfactory arrangement is made as a result of this notice, collection officers will make every effort to contact the taxpayer direct, before proceeding with contemplated legal action. This prevents surprises and allows the taxpayer and the collection officer to work out an acceptable schedule for payment, when the taxpayer simply cannot pay all at once and there is no alternative to an arrangement. When these efforts do not result in the settlement of a taxpayer's debt, taxes and other amounts owing may be collected by means of garnishment of wages, bank deposits, and other income, or by means of seizure and sale of assets.

Income tax information and publications (RCT 6 – RCT 11)

RCT 6
Taxation publications: in addition to the income tax guide that accompanies each tax return, other guides designed to meet the needs of specific groups of taxpayers are available at all district taxation offices. Various series of publications in everyday language dealing with specific aspects of taxation, and technical interpretation bulletins and information circulars intended for accountants, lawyers, tax specialists, and individuals requiring more detailed explanations are also available from these offices. Taxation Statistics, an annual in-depth analysis of tax returns, is available from the Canadian Government Publishing Centre, Supply and Services Canada, Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0S9 or from bookstores authorized to sell government publications see page 525.

RCT 7
Media information: the Department prepares resource packages for daily and community newspapers and for foreign language media serving areas with large immigrant populations. It also distributes public service announcements giving answers to common taxpayer questions or information on changes in tax legislation to radio and television stations during the filing period. In addition, it offers close-captioned television programs on completing tax returns to TV stations across the country during the filing period. Inquiries: Public Relations Officer at any district taxation office see Part II under cities listed above, or see the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

RCT 8
Films: the Department has produced several films dealing with various aspects of Canada's tax system, including animated films and feature-length dramas. All are available from local National Film Board offices see Part II.

RCT 9
Employers' kit: every district taxation office provides employers' kits for new employers. The kit explains the procedures for payroll deductions of income tax, Canada Pension Plan contributions, and unemployment insurance premiums, and contains the registration form necessary to obtain an employer number.

RCT 10
Standard financial statements: this package provides assistance to self-employed business people and professionals in filing their returns by simplifying their paperwork. It consists of a Statement of Income and Expenses and schedules for Adjustment to Income, Supplemental Information, and Capital Cost Allowance.

RCT 11
Information on charities: taxpayers with questions about registration guidelines, departmental policies, and other administrative and legislative matters relating to registered charities and Canadian amateur athletic associations can contact the Charitable and Non-profit Organizations section of the Department by calling Ottawa/Hull, toll-free 1-800-267-2384 (in British Columbia 112-800-267-2384).

Income tax services (RCT 12 – RCT 17)

RCT 12
Inquiry service: the Department answers all questions from taxpayers on tax deductions, exemptions, and credits; provides information on filing and the status of returns and refunds; and explains assessment notices through its telephone and counter inquiry service in all district taxation offices. From February to April, the public inquiries telephone service of all district taxation offices provides service beyond normal working hours. Inquiries: any district taxation office see the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

RCT 13
Temporary tax offices: from February to April, Seasonal Tax Assistance Centres (STACs), Seasonal Tax Information Clinics (STICs), and Public Information Clinics (PICs) provide an over-the-counter general tax and filing information service to residents of various communities at some distance from a district taxation office. STICs, STACs, and PICs are advertised in advance in the local media.

RCT 14
Assistance to the visually and hearing-impaired: all district taxation offices for visually-impaired taxpayers provide audio-tape versions of the general tax guide. Hearing-impaired taxpayers may obtain tax information and assistance by using a Telephone Device for the Deaf and calling 1-800-665-0354 (in British Columbia 112-800-665-0354).

RCT 15
Volunteer Program: this program is designed to help taxpayers who can not complete their own returns because of age, infirmity, language, or other reasons. District taxation office staff offer special training sessions to teach representatives of community organizations and other interested individuals how to complete basic tax returns. These volunteers then assist other taxpayers free of charge. Inquiries: Public Relations officer, any district taxation office see Part II under cities listed above, or see the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

RCT 16
Teaching Taxes Program: this program provides learning materials for students of economics, mathematics, business, social studies, or consumer education at the secondary and postsecondary levels. Inquiries: Public Relations Officer at any district taxation office see Part II under cities listed above, or see the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

RCT 17
Advance income tax rulings: on request, the Department will provide taxpayers with a binding ruling advising them how it will interpret specific provisions of the tax law that apply to transactions they are contemplating. Requests should be sent to the Corporate Rulings Division or Non-Corporate Rulings Division (as applicable), Revenue Canada, Taxation, 875 Heron Road, Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0L8. There is a fee for this service.

Income tax audits and appeals (RCT 18 – RCT 20)

RCT 18
Audits: to ensure compliance with tax laws, the Department carries out random audits of individual and corporate returns filed and investigates suspected tax evaders.

RCT 19
Voluntary disclosure: any person who has failed to file a return required under any section of the legislation administered by the Department, or who has filed incorrect returns and subsequently makes a voluntary disclosure pertaining to those returns that is substantially complete, will be permitted to settle any liability of tax with statutory interest and late-filing penalties. The Department will not prosecute such persons or impose civil penalties for gross negligence or willful evasion. The identity of anyone making a voluntary disclosure is held in confidence, as are all matters between the Department and persons filing returns.

RCT 20
Objections and appeals: taxpayers who disagree with their assessments may appeal the assessment and request an independent second opinion by filing a notice of objection. If they are still dissatisfied, they have the right to appeal to the Tax Court of Canada; the Federal Court of Canada, Trial Division; the Federal Court of Appeal; and, in some cases, the Supreme Court of Canada.

Collection of other taxes, contributions, premiums (RCT 21 – RCT 23)

RCT 21
Petroleum and Gas Revenue Tax Act: the Department is responsible for administering the Act, which affects petroleum and gas producers and processors, as well as those receiving resource royalty payments. Taxpayers concerned may obtain registration and remittance forms, an instruction booklet, and general information from district taxation offices see Part II under cities listed above, or see the Toll-free Telephone Service section, page 16.

RCT 22
Canada Pension Plan: the Department determines eligibility of contributors to the Canada Pension Plan and collects contributions from employers and self-employed persons. Health and Welfare Canada administers benefits.

RCT 23
Unemployment insurance: the Department determines eligibility of contributors for unemployment insurance and collects premiums from both employers and employees. Employment and Immigration Canada makes benefit payments.

As the federal police force, the RCMP is responsible for the prevention and detection of offences committed against federal statutes and for the provision of investigative and protective services to federal departments and agencies.
Minister responsible:
Solicitor General of Canada

RCMP 1
Federal, provincial, territorial, and municipal police services: the RCMP provides police services, under the terms of policing agreements, to the territories and all provinces except Ontario and Québec, and, under separate municipal policing agreements, to 191 municipalities in eight provinces. Under the terms of the policing agreements, the RCMP serves as a provincial police force to enforce the Criminal Code, provincial statutes, or territorial ordinances, and as a municipal police force to enforce the Criminal Code, provincial statutes, and municipal by-laws. Provisions within the Provincial Policing Agreements stipulate the population level at which a community must provide its own police service (in Saskatchewan, Nova Scotia, Alberta – 1500; New Brunswick – 2500; Manitoba, British Columbia, and Prince Edward Island – 5000). Provincial legislation allows communities in excess of these population levels to either establish their own municipal police force or enter into a RCMP Municipal Policing Agreement, through an application to the Solicitor General of Canada. The current Provincial, Territorial, and Municipal Policing Agreements cover the period from 1 March 1981 to 31 March 1991. The costs of all the agreements are shared between the province, territory, or municipality and the federal government.

The Department of Supply and Services is the purchasing and accounting arm of the federal government.
Minister responsible:
Minister of Supply and Services

Supply Program (SSC 1 – SSC 12)

SSC 1
Provision of goods and services: Supply and Services Canada is responsible for the federal government's supply program. It aims to acquire goods and services and to provide them to customer departments and agencies in the most economical manner possible, while using procurement to promote the government's economic and regional development objectives. The department purchases professional and specialized services as well as goods and services of a scientific, technical, and commercial nature, including film and video. Other supply responsibilities include printing and publishing, advertising management, expositions, equipment maintenance and repair, and disposal of surplus government materiel. Inquiries: for a list of major goods and services purchased by Supply and Services Canada on behalf of departments and agencies of the federal government, by mail – Director, Corporate Relations Branch, Supply and Services Canada, Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0S5; by telephone – Ottawa/Hull (819) 997-2686.

Supply and Services Canada (continued)

SSC 2
Federal procurement/method of acquisition: Supply and Services Canada solicits bids from vendors listed on its headquarters or regional source lists to fill federal government requirements. Firms listed at the regional level must have an office or a branch within the geographical area covered by the SSC regional office concerned. The department maintains a separate list of firms and organizations capable of conducting scientific activities. This list is based on a key-word system and provides profiles of experience, expertise, and special capabilities. Inquiries: Ottawa/Hull (819) 997-2686; by mail – Corporate Relations Branch, Supply and Services Canada, Ottawa, Ontario, K1A 0S5.

SSC 3
Business opportunities/federal contracts: Supply and Services Canada publishes a weekly Bulletin of Business Opportunities, which contains information on contracts, business opportunities, and government of Canada publications, as well as news items and feature stories of interest to the business community. The monthly Research and Development Bulletin contains information on contracts awarded and on the scientific and technological needs of federal departments and agencies. Content also covers case studies, statistical analyses of the contracts awarded, special features, and statistics. Inquiries: Bulletin of Business Opportunities, Ottawa/Hull (819) 994-0690; by mail – Editor, Bulletin of Business Opportunities, Corporate Relations Branch, Supply and Services Canada, Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0S5; Research and Development Bulletin, Ottawa/Hull (819) 997-7676; by mail – Editor, Research and Development Bulletin, Science and Professional Services Directorate, Supply and Services Canada, Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0S5.

SSC 4
Unsolicited Proposals Program: an adjunct to the federal government's contracting-out policy in science and technology, this program allows Canadian private-sector and commercial industry the opportunity to submit, on their own initiative, proposals for scientific work. Individuals, private organizations, and commercial industries that reside in Canada, are incorporated (or recognized as such) under federal or provincial legislation, and are carrying out activities in Canada are eligible. Included are non-profit organizations, universities, public institutions, such as provincial research organizations, and industrial research institutes jointly operated by groups of commercial enterprises. An unsolicited proposal must be sponsored by a government department, have scientific merit and technical feasibility, and contain unique ideas or special capabilities or offer opportunities that justify waiving the normal competitive procedures. An interdepartmental committee chaired by Supply and Services Canada evaluates the proposals. If an unsolicited proposal is accepted by a sponsoring department whose budget cannot totally support it, Supply and Services Canada will provide assistance from its Unsolicited Proposals Fund until the sponsor can assume financial responsibility. Inquiries: for guidelines for preparing and submitting unsolicited proposals, or more information by mail – Director of Programs, Science Branch, Science and Professional Services Directorate, Supply and Services Canada, Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0S5; by telephone – Ottawa/Hull (819) 997-7428.

SSC 5
Public Awareness Program for Science and Technology: this program provides funding assistance for projects or activities that promote public awareness and understanding of science and technology. The financial assistance provided is a contribution to partially cover the costs of a project. In exceptional circumstances, the program may award long-term financial support to well-established organizations. In these cases the contribution should not form the major source of income. Eligible organizations (preferably legally constituted) include non-profit organizations, associations, or societies; various media organizations (for example, publishers of magazines and periodicals, producers of films and radio or television programs); as well as producers of unique exhibits, seminars, workshops, or other popular science activities. Although a university may be associated with a project, neither universities nor government departments or agencies are eligible for these awards. A committee comprising representatives from the private sector select the proposals. Selection criteria include quality of the project proposal, project feasibility, and financial considerations. The results of the competition are usually available within two or three months. The deadlines for two major competitions are 15 April 1986 and 15 October 1986. Program changes may occur prior to the competitions. Inquiries: Program Officer, Ottawa/Hull (819) 997-7366.

Telefilm Canada is charged with fostering the development and growth of the private sector of the Canadian film industry. It is also responsible for administering the Canadian Broadcast Program Development Fund and for promoting, through that fund, the development of a strong private-sector TV industry and a solid core of attractive Canadian television programming in the areas of drama, variety, and children's programming. Telefilm Canada carries out these mandates by providing financial assistance to private-sector film and television producers and distributors, and by promoting the Canadian film and television industry at major festivals and markets in Canada and abroad.
Minister responsible:
Minister of Communications

Film development and production (TFC 1 – TFC 5)

TFC 1
Film production/financial assistance: development and interim loans are available to producers to help them develop projects or start filming while finalizing permanent financing. These loans are repayable with interest and fees. In specific cases, equity investments are made in films.

TFC 2
Film production/project selection: the Corporation participates in films that have significant Canadian, creative, artistic, and technical content. It determines which films it will assist, following careful assessment of each project by its consultants and script readers. Scripts or outlines may be submitted to any Telefilm Canada office see Part II under cities listed above (Los Angeles, Paris, and London addresses see above).

TFC 3
Co-productions: Canada has entered into co-production treaties with the United Kingdom, Belgium, France, Spain, Italy, West Germany, Algeria, Israel. Through its Montréal office, the Corporation receives and evaluates all applications for the certification of a film as an official co-production. It makes a recommendation to the Minister of Communications for either the approval or rejection of each application.

TFC 4
Distribution assistance: short-term loans are available to Canadian distributors to help them launch Canadian features in Canada. The program covers theatrical and television releases. Promotional materials must be created and produced by Canadian companies. Decisions are based on detailed proposals submitted to Telefilm Canada officers. Telefilm Canada also administers test marketing, promotion, and advertising programs for individual, Canadian theatrical feature films in Canada.

TFC 5
Film promotion: Telefilm Canada promotes the film and television industry and provides information on the Canadian industry at international film festivals and markets. It also assists with the official participation of Canadian films in these festivals and markets.

Broadcast program production (TFC 6 – TFC 7)

TFC 6
Broadcast program production/financial assistance: guaranteed loans and loan guarantees are available to producers to help them produce fully developed projects for television. Guaranteed loans are subject to interest and administration fees; loan guarantees are also subject to administration fees. Telefilm Canada can also make equity investments in television productions.

TFC 7
Broadcast program production/project selection: the Corporation participates in high-quality Canadian productions in the categories of drama, variety, and children's programming, where a Canadian over-the-air broadcaster has guaranteed to broadcast the program. Canadian over-the-air broadcasters are understood to be, for the purposes of the Canadian Broadcast Program Development Fund, the CBC/Radio Canada, and all private Canadian over-the-air stations or networks. Public educational stations or networks do not qualify as broadcast guarantors under the fund.

Film certification (TFC 8)

TFC 8
Film and video certification: the Minister of Communications has sole responsibility for certifying that a film or video production is Canadian and that it meets the criteria set out in the Income Tax Regulations. All questions regarding certification should be addressed to The Canadian Film and Video Certification Office, Department of Communications, 300 Slater Street, 3rd Floor, Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0C8.
Inquiries: (613) 993-4371.

Ottawa, Ontario
K1A 0R5

Information: Ottawa/Hull (613) 957-2400; Comptroller General of Canada see TB 7 below; Office of Regulatory Reform see TB 6 below.

The Treasury Board of Canada is a committee of six members of the Queen's Privy Council, including the President of the Treasury Board and the Minister of Finance. The Board advises Cabinet on the selection of programs and projects that will achieve the government's objectives in the most effective manner in accordance with its priorities, and it promotes the efficient use of the human, financial, and material resources needed by departments and agencies to carry out their programs and projects.
Minister responsible:
President of the Treasury Board

TB 1
The Treasury Board Secretariat: as the operational arm of the Board, the Secretariat examines all proposed spending programs and keeps them under review; is responsible for administrative policies and official languages in the public service; proposes personnel management policy; and, as the employer, negotiates collective agreements with public service bargaining agents.

TB 2
Official languages: the Secretariat oversees the implementation of the Official Languages Program in the federal public service, which includes producing general guidelines and criteria to provide direction to departments and agencies; auditing and evaluating departmental official languages activities; and monitoring the progress of the public service towards the achievement of language reform. Official Languages Branch. Inquiries: interpretation of official language policies and related matters, Ottawa/Hull (613) 993-6921.

TB 4
Federal Identity Program (FIP): through this program, the government aims to identify federal activities in a consistent manner; to improve service to the public by facilitating access to federal programs and services; to improve the methods of the graphic handling of the official languages, consistent with the Official Languages Act; to effect cost savings through standardization of the program's application; and to promote quality of graphic design in all applications of the federal identity.

TB 5
Access to information and privacy: the Secretariat prepares and distributes publications describing government institutions and their information banks, enabling the public to obtain access to this information. It is also responsible for issuing policies and regulations to federal government institutions on the operation of the Access to Information and Privacy Acts. The Access Register and the Personal Information Index, brochures explaining the Acts, and request forms are available at public, university, and college libraries, federal government libraries and offices open to the public, post offices or municipal offices in rural areas, and Indian band offices. The Access Register (BT 51-2/2-1985) and Personal Information Index (BT 51-2/1-1985) are available at the above locations for reference only. They can be purchased for $10 per copy by mail from the Canadian Government Publishing Centre, Supply and Services Canada, Ottawa, Ontario K1A 0S9, or by phone, (819) 997-2560, and from government-authorized bookstore agents see Part II, page 525.

TB 6
The Office of Regulatory Reform supports the minister responsible for co-ordinating the government's regulatory reform activities. The President of the Treasury Board currently holds that responsibility. The Office's principal function is to stimulate reform of federal regulatory programs, to encourage reforms of the regulatory system and, generally, to co-ordinate efforts to alleviate regulatory restraints on individuals and the Canadian economy. The Office generates legal and economic research on regulatory issues, provides federal-provincial- territorial regulatory liaison services, and carries out comparative analysis of regulatory initiatives in key foreign jurisdictions. The Office also manages publication of the Regulatory Agendas, which provides early warning of forthcoming federal regulations.

TB 7
The Comptroller General of Canada: the Comptroller General heads the second organization serving the Treasury Board and is responsible for the quality and integrity of the financial administration policies and practices in use throughout the federal public service, as well as for the following management programs: IMPAC (Improvement in Management Practices and Controls), program evaluation, internal audit, and professional development.

TB 8
Crown corporations: the Crown Corporations Directorate provides advice to the president of the Treasury Board on the financial needs of Crown corporations, and develops policy and regulations governing them.
